Monmouth plans election for seat on council

Monmouth Township ratepayers will go to the polls next month in a by-election to fill the seat vacated by councillor Barry Dunford, who resigned in September to become the Township's road superintendent.

Council declared the seat vacant and resolved at a meeting last week to schedule a by-election rather than appoint a citizen to serve the remaining two years of council's term.

Reeve Keith Tallman was the only member of council to disagree with the move, registering a nay vote to the resolution.

Tallman said in an interview that he felt council could have appointed Barry Stoughton to the position rather than call a by-election.

Stoughton was an unsuccessful candidate for the seat in last November's election, receiving 187 votes, only 13 fewer than Alan Revill, who won the third seat on council with 200 votes.

The reeve said council was concerned that Stoughton was seeking work out of the community and as a result, might leave the community before the remaining two years of council's present term have expired.

Notice for filing for nominations for the by-election will be served on October 21, and a list of electors will

Bus seatbelts not needed: report

In the wake of an accident involving a dump truck and two school buses in which 12 students were injured, the Haliburton County Board of Education has appointed a committee to investigate school bus safety and recommend improvements which could include the installation of seatbelts for students.

But at least one major study has concluded that seatbelts are not needed in large school buses and may in fact increase the potential for injury.

The study, circulated to board members, was completed in April, 1982, by the Hamilton Wentworth Council for Road Trauma. It claims that seat belts would not contribute significantly to the safety of school buses, which are already the safest vehicles on the road based on accident statistics.

In 1978, according to the study, the fatality rate from school bus accidents was .5 per 100,000 students and the injury rate was 49 per 100,000, eight times better than the death and injury rate for automobile passengers. Half of all injuries and fatalities involving students occurred when the youngsters were outside the buses, report says. They were either struck by the bus or hit by motorists who failed to obey flashing stop signals.

The report identifies a number of problems associated with the installation of seat belts on school buses.

Cost is a major consideration, the Council on Road Trauma says. It estimates that seat belts would cost $3000 per vehicle.

"An expenditure of this magnitude should be made only if the need exists, and from the excellent safety record to date on school buses, it can be argued that the need does not exist," the report says.

Adapting older school buses to accept seat belt anchors would be a complicated matter, according to the report, since the seats are not designed to absorb the stresses that would occur in a frontal collision when belted students are restrained.

"Safety is not improved by simply attaching seat belts to any seat," the report notes. "Items that affect the overall design of the bus seating system must be considered. Even with a reduction of seat belt load from 5000 pounds automobile requirements to the proposed 1500 pounds school bus requirements, there are many seats which are inadequate to sustain the seat belt load."

Chamber accepts resignation

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce is temporarily without a manager following the resignations of Frank McCarron and Bob Stinson.

McCarron resigned last week at the request of the board of directors, after former manager Bob Stinson, who working part time for the Chamber as a marketing representative, decided to step down.

The decision to call for the resignation of McCarron, who took over the job vacated by Stinson in July, came only half an hour after Stinson told the board he wanted out. It cleared the way for the Chamber's board of directors to look for a new manager who could carry out both jobs.

Chamber president Rhonda Elstone said Tuesday that Stinson decided to resign in order to "give the board more leeway" to combine his salary with that of the manager.

With that option available, the board reviewed McCarron's work and decided to ask for his resignation.

Elstone said there had been a "lot of complaints to board members that Frank was stepping on a lot of toes by his general attitude."

"It would appear from everything that I have heard, that his personality did not suit the job," Elstone said.

McCarron, who had no formal contract with the Chamber, was to be paid $17,000 a year, with the job reviewed on an annual basis. In calling for his resignation, the board agreed to pay McCarron one month's additional salary.

Elstone called the settlement "a very favourable one," noting that even before last week's decisive board meeting, McCarron "was beginning to realize that maybe he was not in the right job."

Elstone said she hopes the board's actions will meet with the approval of the general membership of the Chamber.

"I hope that people will be sympathetic to the fact that we have made some mistakes and are right now trying to correct the mistakes that we have made."

Katimivik group ends stay

The first Katimivik group to come to Haliburton is leaving Thursday, after three months of working and living in the community.

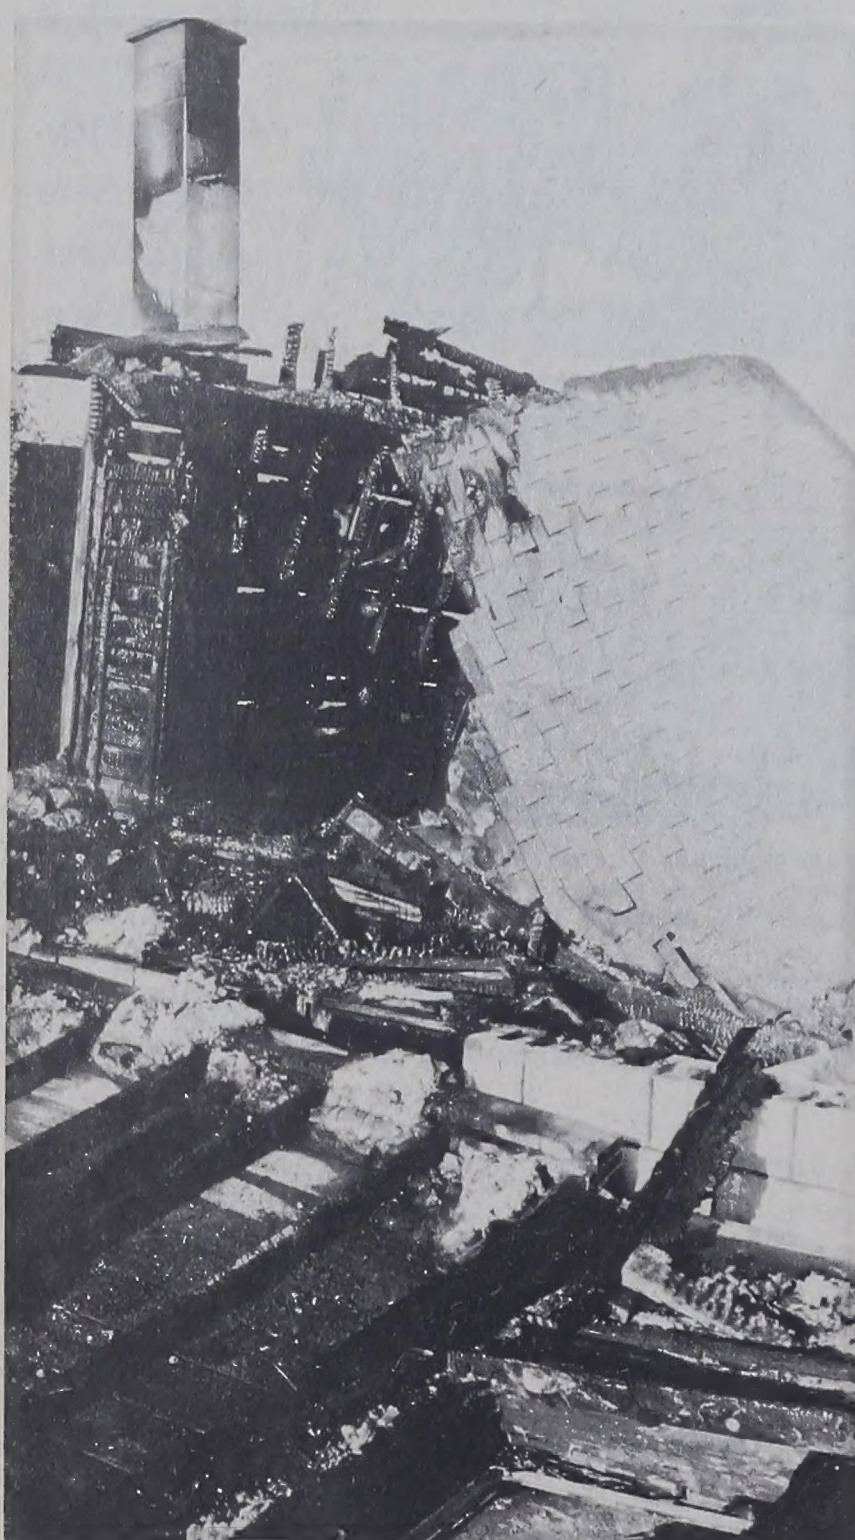

The eleven young people from across Canada who have been working for $1 a day under a federally sponsored program, are moving on to a three month stint in Lac Beauport, near Quebec city.

During their stay in Haliburton the Katimivik volunteers carried out a variety of jobs, many of them involving hard physical labour. They worked at ARC industries wood working shop, catalogued artifacts, painted and built walkways at the Pioneer Museum, painted much of the exterior of the Rails End Gallery, maintained the fountain and flower beds at Head Lake Park, cleared weeds and debris from an unused part of the park, installed gabion baskets under MNR supervision at the Drag River dam in the village, and scraped and painted the exterior of West Guilford Baptist Church.

In the process, the group got to know many people in the area, some of whom attended a party for the departing workers last Thursday night at the Drag River municipal building.

A second group of Katimivik volunteers will arrive in Haliburton Thursday after a three month stint in California, where they carried out projects for the California Conservation Core.

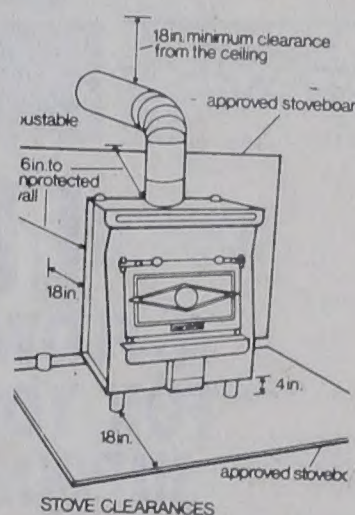

This house, on Woods Road near Haliburton, burned to the ground Sunday night, despite the efforts of Dysart et al firemen. No one was injured in the blaze. The house is owned by Lorne Bailey of Haliburton and was rented. No details of the fire were available.

OPP report

For the past two weeks a person has been "living off the land" in the Kennisis - Little Kennisis Lake area. Three times he has been discovered in cottages by property owners arriving from the city. In each case it is apparent he has been living in the cottage for varying periods of time.

The latest sighting occurred Thursday, October 6 when a Mississauga couple arrived at their Little Kennisis Lake cottage and observed a man walking away. He had apparently dropped some 15 feet from a bedroom window and may have been injured. He was described as being bearded with reddish hair and wearing a grey sweatsuit and grey socks. He had left his boots and other clothing inside the cottage.

Missing from the cottage was two pounds of bacon, three steaks and a quantity of wine and whiskey.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Robert Blair Clement in connection with the occurrences.

On Tuesday, six officers, two using a boat, two on foot, and two others aided by a trained dog, found Clement in a cottage on Little Kennisis. He was arrested without incident.

More cottage breakins

A series of cottage break-ins has occurred in the Salerno - Conteau Lake area during the past week. Six break-ins have been reported so far. Entry has been gained by kicking in doors. An assortment of goods has been stolen including firearms, power tools and a chainsaw. Highest theft at any one cottage has been $1,200.

Doug Craigmyle picked a good location to sell his apples on Saturday. He was right in front of the Legion in Haliburton, and found willing buyers who were on their way into a flea market. Here a visitor asks Doug to 'pick a good one', which he did.

Council advised that the adjoining property owner was also entitled to purchase up to 33 feet of the road allowance according to the Municipal Act and the clerk was directed to contact them to determine their interest in the matter.

WHEN IT COMES TO 4WD, WE'VE GOT YOU COMING AND GOING.

The first thing you should do before buying a four wheel drive vehicle is test drive a Jeep Wagoneer or Jeep Cherokee.

It's the only way to realize exactly what our competition doesn't have to offer.

For instance:

Good mileage. Both Wagoneer and Cherokee offer the best mileage ever in a Jeep. The reason? Jeep's new 2.5 litre 4-cylinder engine that's been turning a lot of engineering heads around.

Command Trac. Shift between two wheel drive and four wheel drive with the flick of a switch. Without stopping. And it's standard equipment. That's right. Standard.

Quadra Link. The front suspension system that is opening the world of 4WD to more people than ever before. It's tougher for off-road, smoother for on road driving. Exactly what a 4WD suspension ought to do.

4-Doors. Both the Wagoneer and the Cherokee are the only sportswagons to offer this feature. Need we say more?

This log building, which was once the school house in Furnace Falls, burned down and was replaced by a new structure in 1917. That school remained in use until 1951, and is now a private residence. Shown

School has changed

Anyone who has lived in Haliburton County for a few decades can attest to the fact that many things have changed over the years, not the least of which is the school system. Gone are the days of the one room school houses that once were scattered around the countryside. Students who in years past would have trudged through deep snow to shiver through the day's lessons in a rough hewn log building heated by a pot bellied stove are now bussed to modern facilities with every advantage that educators can offer. And teachers who once got low wages at the whim of trustees are now unionized and well paid.

The history of many of the local schools has faded from memory, but the log books of some schools have survived, and although by regulation they contain nothing but bare facts, the books are reference points from which it is possible to take note of how different it is to be a student or teacher in 1983 than it was to be involved in the schools of the early decades of this century.

The old school in Furnace Falls, Snowdon Township is now a private residence, but once it was a focal point for the community.

USS No. 7 Snowdon and No. 5 Galway was built in 1917 and opened in January 1918. Miss Elizabeth Cameron of Beaverton was the school's first teacher, and she presided over a class of six girls and seven boys.

What follows is the record of that school, as written in the log books by one of its teachers, Kathleen Crofts, now Kathleen Carr, who along with her husband Harold, is still a resident of the area.

Until 1917 there had been two schools, one in the southwest corner of Lot 18, Con. 2, Snowdon Township, known as No. 1 School; the other in Lot 18, Con. 10 Galway Township, Peterborough County, known as No. 2 School. From January 1 to June 6, school was held in No. 1 School and for the remainder of the year, school was held in No. 2 school.

In 1917 No. 2 school burned, cause of fire unknown. It was then decided to tear down No. 1 school and build a new school, the location of which was to be as nearly central as possible. Thus the present school USS No. 7 was built.

Although a school was located in the section and work carried on by a school board, no records were kept until 1902. The first teacher on record was Miss Jean Robertson who taught from January 1902 to December 1903, a period of two years at a salary of $200 in the first year and $204 the second. Then came Miss Grace Till who taught from December 1903 to December 1904 at a salary of $230 per annum. She was succeeded by Miss Eva Newall who taught for two years, resigning in December 1906. Her salary the first year was $230 the second $240.

The following term was divided Miss P. Minchall taught from January to July for a salary the seat design, the load transmitted to the bus floor must be absorbed by adequate structure in an under the floor."

To date, according to the report, there has been no requirement to test all seatbelt anchorages simultaneously to simulate the forces resulting from a collision.

Belt systems could be adapted to new buses, the report says, but seats fabricated to accept seat belt anchorage, and strengthened floors and frames would involve "a significant cost increase".

A research team at the University of Western Ontario has concluded that adding lap belts to seat buses "might actually increase the injury potential of crash situations involving larger school buses" the report says. This is because of the difficulty of acquiring seat belts that would fit kindergarten as well as high school students, and because the belts might not be worn properly.

If seat belts were installed, a monitoring system would have to be implemented to insure that they were used properly, and this too could be a costly item, according to the report.

The Trauma Council study acknowledges that the absence of seat belts in school buses might lead students to think that belts are unimportant in automobiles, but it notes that the vast differences between buses and cars may cause students "not to make the comparison".

The council found "that there does not appear to be any evidence one way or the other as to whether or not this concern is valid".

Having concluded that seat belts are not a practical alternative in school buses, the council recommends that seat backs and stanchions should be padded to reduce injuries in frontal impacts.

It also notes that since 25 percent of all school bus accidents are the result of errors committed by bus drivers, more care should be taken in selecting drivers and "more effective training programs" should be implemented.

As well, the report says the public should be better educated about the laws governing school buses to reduce incidents of drivers passing stopped vehicles. Swing out stop signs are recommended to alert the drivers of other vehicles, and these have been installed on all school buses operating under the Haliburton County Board's jurisdiction.

In conclusion, the Hamilton Wentworth report says that consideration should be given to installing seats that face rearwards, so that the seats would restrain students in the event of a frontal collision.

The recommendations apply to large school buses only. Smaller, van type buses should have seat belt assemblies for all passengers, the report says.

Woman seriously hurt in crash

A Haliburton area woman suffered serious injuries in a single car accident early Sunday morning and was transferred by air ambulance to Toronto's Sunnybrook Hospital.

Suzanne Bennett, 23, was the driver of a 1982 Renault which went out of control on a curve on Highway 121 a kilometre west of the Ingoldsby turn and struck a rock cut.

Bennett was thrown from the vehicle as a result of the impact.

Passenger Paul Mayo, 18 of Minden Township was treated at Haliburton Hospital for minor injuries.

Damage to the car, which was completely destroyed, was estimated at $11,000.

In other weekend accidents, a Downsview woman suffered serious injuries and was transferred to hospital in Lindsay following a single car accident on Highway 35 in Stanhope Township, Friday afternoon.

Jenny Sobchak, 62, was injured when a car driven by Paul Sobchak, 73, left the highway at the intersection of Shangri-la Road.

Sobchak had been passing vehicles when he drove into the left ditch. He sustained minor injuries.

Damage to the car, a 1980 Chevrolet, was estimated at $1000.

Two Toronto women escaped serious injuries early Monday morning when a station wagon flipped end over end on Scotch Line Road West in Anson Township.

Jill Thomson, age 21, had been driving to a horseback riding stable when she came over the crest of a hill and swerved to avoid a deer which was standing in her path. The vehicle left the roadway and entered the right hand ditch, where it rolled over.

Thomson and passenger Bonnie MacMillan, 20, suffered only minimal injuries, probably due, police speculate, to the fact that both were wearing seatbelts.

The car was totally wrecked.

According to Elstone he has a background in marketing and administration, and has agreed to fill in for as long as he is needed, although he made it clear that he is not a candidate for the permanent position.

Bill Kulas has been selected to chair a selection committee to seek a new manager. Kulas is expected to ask a member of county council and a representative of the public at large to serve on the committee.

In the meantime, the Chamber office on Highway 35 remains open, staffed by secretary Elaine Blakey.

Members will have an opportunity to comment on the board's decision at the Chamber's annual meeting next Wednesday, October 19 at Wig-A-Mog Inn.

Expectations

It will not come as a surprise to most members of the Chamber of Commerce that the board has accepted the resignations of marketing representative Bob Stinson and manager Frank McCarron. In fact, the Chamber's board of directors created the potential for the present turmoil when it agreed with a proposal to split the responsibilities of manager and marketing representative, jobs which Stinson had carried out diligently, if thanklessly, for several years. It proved to be all but impossible to divide the responsibilities equably between an experienced former manager who was respected by his colleagues and associates outside the area and an ambitious but inexperienced recent university graduate.

To the Chamber board's credit, they were quick to recognize that a mistake had been made, and in calling for McCarron's resignation after Stinson's was submitted, they cleared the way for a return to an all encompassing manager's job.

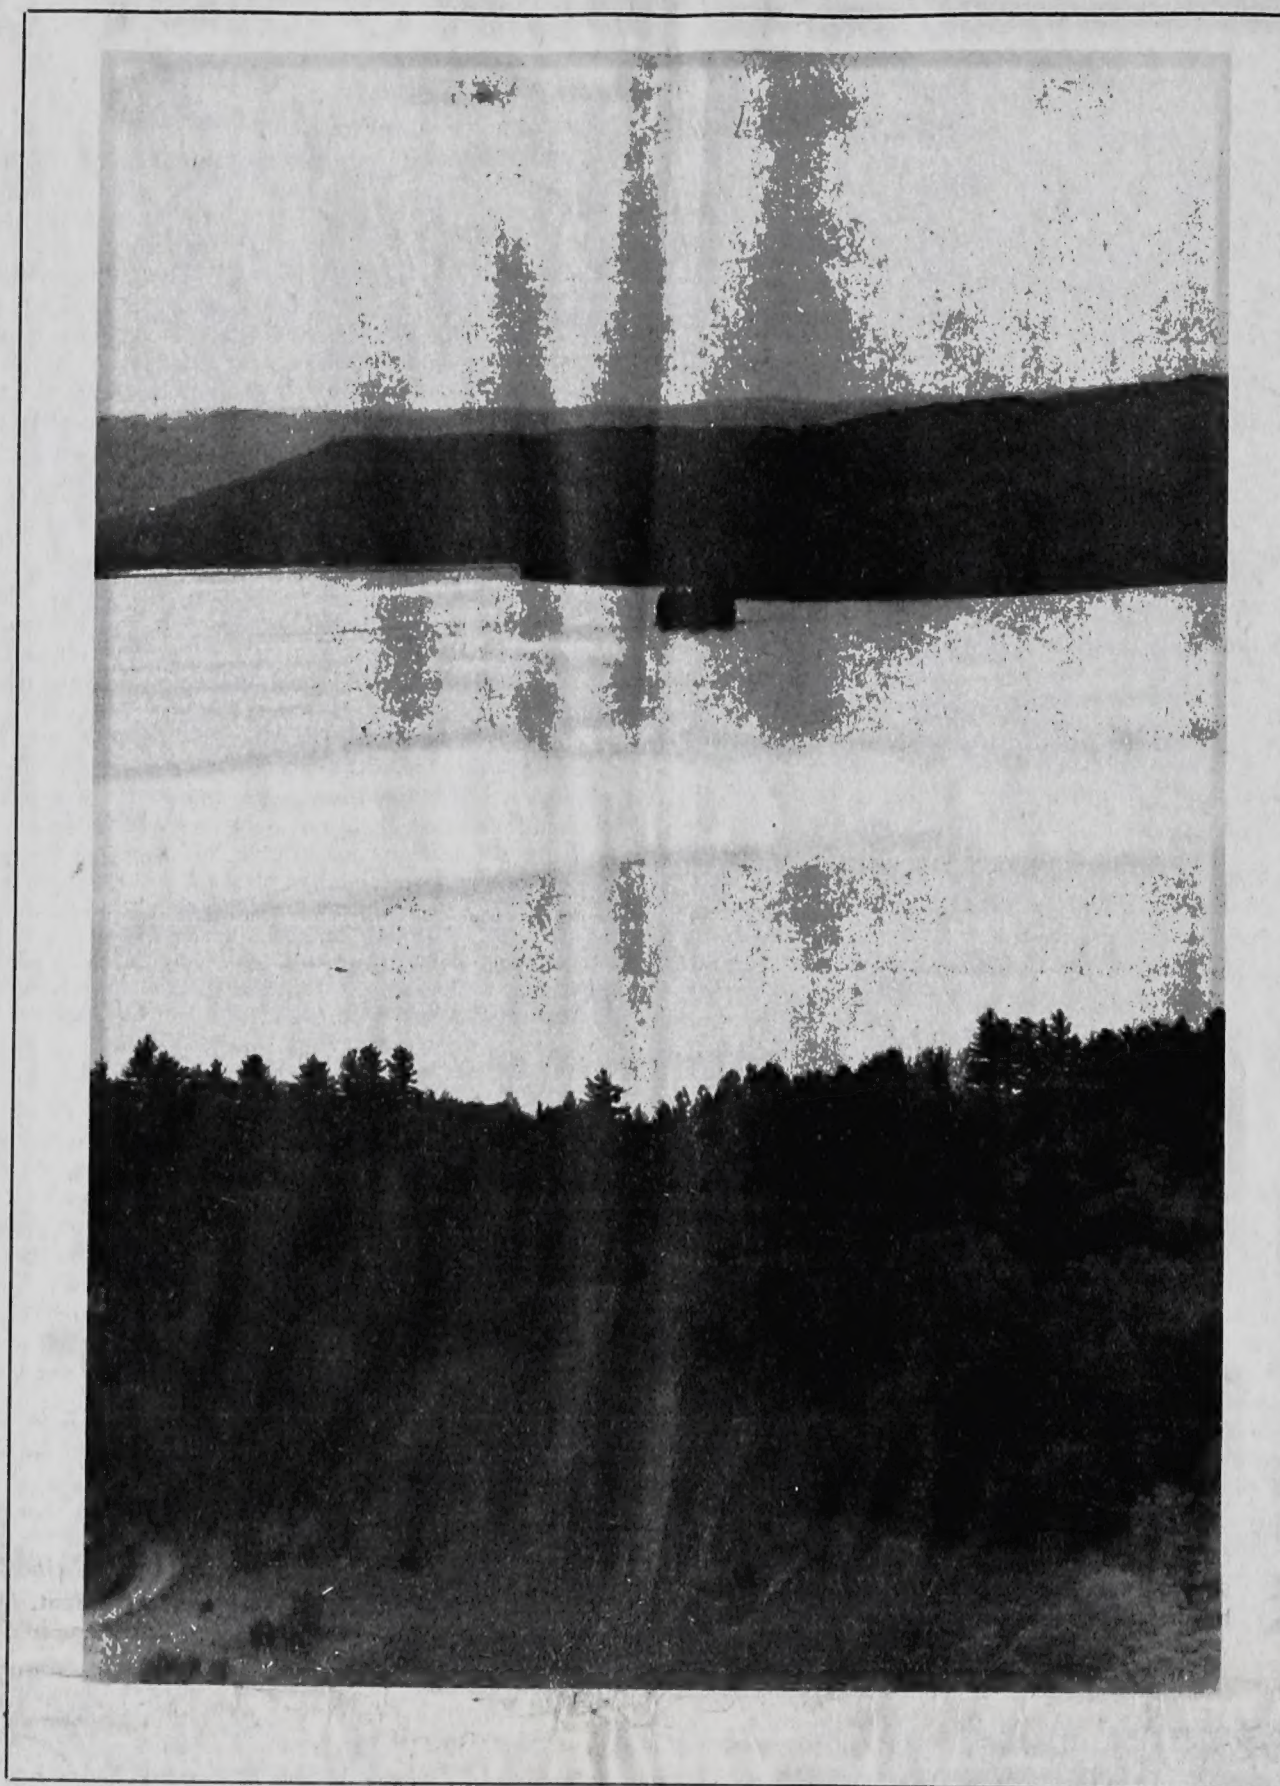

Inevitably, the events of the past week will open the door to a reexamination of the Chamber's role in the community. In recent years it has become increasingly apparent that the Chamber is having trouble maintaining its credibility with business people and politicians outside the villages of Haliburton and Minden. To some extent, criticisms levelled at the Chamber have been unjust. People have expected it to be a fountain of ideas and a promoter of everything, from individual businesses to community events in far flung corners of the county. In fact, the Chamber has been and continues to be a community oriented group led by volunteer directors who devote much of their spare time and energy to a job that few other people are willing to carry out. The frequent charge that 'the Chamber never does anything for us' will not stand up to careful scrutiny. The Chamber is, in fact, the only body in Haliburton County working to promote the area as a whole. And therein lies the heart of the ongoing difficulties which the Chamber's board faces.

People who expect the Chamber to improve the tourist potential of the county, or even its business climate, are asking more than a volunteer board of directors and one paid manager can deliver. At best, the Chamber should function as a central body to co ordinate promotion efforts and to facilitate communication between individual businesses, communities and provincial bodies. The responsibility for tourism development rests not on the Chamber board's shoulders but squarely on the shoulders of local politicians, resort owners and merchants. All the Chamber can do is ensure that information about the county reaches as many people as money will allow.

It may be time for communities to consider setting up tourist promotion councils. It is certainly time for merchants in Haliburton and Minden to work together to improve their own communities. Far from representing a threat to the Chamber, tourist councils and business associations could make a positive contribution to the area, affording the Chamber more time to work on its key responsibilities of outside promotion and visitor services.

The Chamber's annual meeting, scheduled for next Wednesday, will provide members with a chance to comment on the board's actions and decide on a course for the future. Those who come prepared to criticize should also be ready to suggest improvements. And those who feel the Chamber isn't living up to their concept of what a Chamber should be ought to be willing to stand for election to the board.

The Chamber isn't perfect, but it won't get any better unless those who want change are prepared to make it happen.

To the Editor:

In our current society we seem to be bombarded with negative news in the domestic, national, and international scenes. Too often we become fearful, suspicious and defensive; sometimes we try to become oblivious to it all. However, there are realistic reasons to be optimistic. Of course, much good continues to exist in society, and we need to bring it more into the open.

A few months ago the Help A Village Effort HAVE committee was formed. Initially, the purpose of the committee was to complete the funding of the construction of a chapel in Ibrahimpuram Village, India. This chapel was started when $1000 was contributed in June, 1982, from the balance of a Refugee Fund of the Haliburton United Church Pastoral Charge to Rev. K.J. Victor, director of the Word Ministries of India WMOI in Hyderabad. Since its formation the HAVE Committee has not only received and forwarded monies for the chapel project but it has arranged for the sponsorship of 4 children, a senior citizen, and it is receiving funds for the drilling of a village well. In order to obtain registered income tax receipts and to avoid expenses, all donations to HAVE are forwarded 100% to the WMOI via The Christian Mission, Fort Erie, Ont.

Western travellers in India are bound to be impressed by the industriousness, the pride, and the determination of that country's citizenry. However, like many other developing countries, India's difficulties are somewhat staggering, especially when seen from a westerner's perspective. Still with the appropriate aid in the right places much can be done by the more affluent nations to enhance the opportunities of those who are being seriously deprived of the basic needs of life.

The HAVE committee considers it imperative that self-help projects be established in the villages of our world. Such action can considerably reduce the need for many individuals and families to migrate to the squalor of urban slums. Although the WMOI has quite an emphasis on Christian evangelism, still it ministers extensively to the medical, educational, social and physical needs of the Harijans (the poorest of the poor) of the many villages in the Hyderabad area. Since one of our members have seen some of the results of the WMOI's efforts in India, and because we have had Rev. Victor visit us in this area, the HAVE committee has taken on projects pertaining to Indian villages. Still, it is prepared to take on vital village projects anywhere in the world.

In its first big effort to involve the people of Haliburton County with self-help projects in villages in India, the HAVE Committee will be presenting at the high school on Saturday, November 5, (3 p.m.) an autumn concert of local musical artists namely, Julie Hunter, Nancy Robichaud, Marilyn Stouffer, and Rick Vaughan as well as such groups as the St. George's Gospel Choir, and the Highlands Dixie Band.

On November 5 you will not only experience excellent local artists but you will have an opportunity to contribute to your HAVE committee Fund. Villages of our County can share the concerns of villages in India by contributing to practical, self-help projects in Indian villages.

Members of the HAVE Committee

Lon Duncome, Gerry Feltham, Keith Hill, John James,
John Stouffer, Howard Robles,
Wendy Wilkins.

To the Editor:

I am writing to thank the Lord for the miracle he gave us on Friday morning September 29 and to apologize to the parents for not having a stronger voice on their concerns.

When I canvassed for a position on the school board as a trustee, I went from door to door and in the Gelert area, their main concern was "The Birch Tree Corner Stop" involving the two buses exchanging students and taking the whole highway to do so.

As I witnessed this stop myself, it was a major concern of mine, when I was elected as their school board trustee.

When I brought my concern to the board office, it was stated that my concern was discussed previously and that the provincial police approved the stop and because of board policy, the stop wouldn't be changed.

Then on Friday, when I received word of the accident, there was a feeling of neglect on my part.

I neglected the ones that I represent, (you) the taxpayer of Snowdon Township.

It is a shame that it takes a near tragedy to change a bus stop.

In the near future, I hope I have the ability to have a stronger voice on the concerns of the residents of Snowdon Township.

Yours truly,
George Simmons

Every year about this time when Thanksgiving weekend is over we find it a bit depressing and sad when we have to say goodbye to so many old friends who come up in the early spring, stay until Thanksgiving and then head back to Toronto or to some other centre in Ontario for the winter months. I have had the pleasure of getting to know many people who have a cottage here while others are visiting with relatives or staying at a cottage resort, hotel or motel. It's very easy to get to know them on a personal basis and I am always fascinated by the interest they show in local affairs and the wonderful way in which they get involved in the community. Most of them are wonderful people who dream of coming back into this area and becoming permanent residents. Many of them already have. It's the new blood in our communities brought in by these people with their new and fresh ideas that is going to make this county go ahead.

Yes that's right, Haliburton County and most of the remainder of Ontario suffered what you might call a slight earthquake around 6 a.m. last Friday morning. I received a telephone call from Barry Austin who now resides in Erin, Ontario on Friday afternoon and he was telling me that the earthquake shook his electric stove and fridge and other things in his house. Many people in Haliburton told me of various happenings in their homes that morning. I happened to be awake myself at the time that the quake was supposed to have happened, but when I thought back I wondered why something unusual didn't happen at our house. The more I thought about this matter the picture seemed to become a little bit clearer. I did happen to notice that the windows in one of our bedrooms was banging as though it was going to break. I thought at the time that it had to be a major wind storm to do this. Little did I know at the time that we were having a slight earthquake.

The Haliburton and District Association for the Mentally Retarded have been busy of late preparing envelopes which will reach you soon. Inside will be a flower for your support. Please give generously to this most worthy cause.

Well it may be October, but up to this time the weather hasn't been too cold to stop the tennis enthusiasts from playing tennis at the courts at Rotary Beach. They will possibly be able to play until the snow flies.

If you have some pictures of the past you would like to see in the Echo please mail them or bring them into our office. Thankyou.

We have noticed several chartered buses in the village of Haliburton during the past few weeks, with many people taking the opportunity to see the Highlands of Haliburton and the leaves in all of their bright colours. We believe that the leaves were at about their best of the holiday weekend, but possibly just not as nice as in some former years.

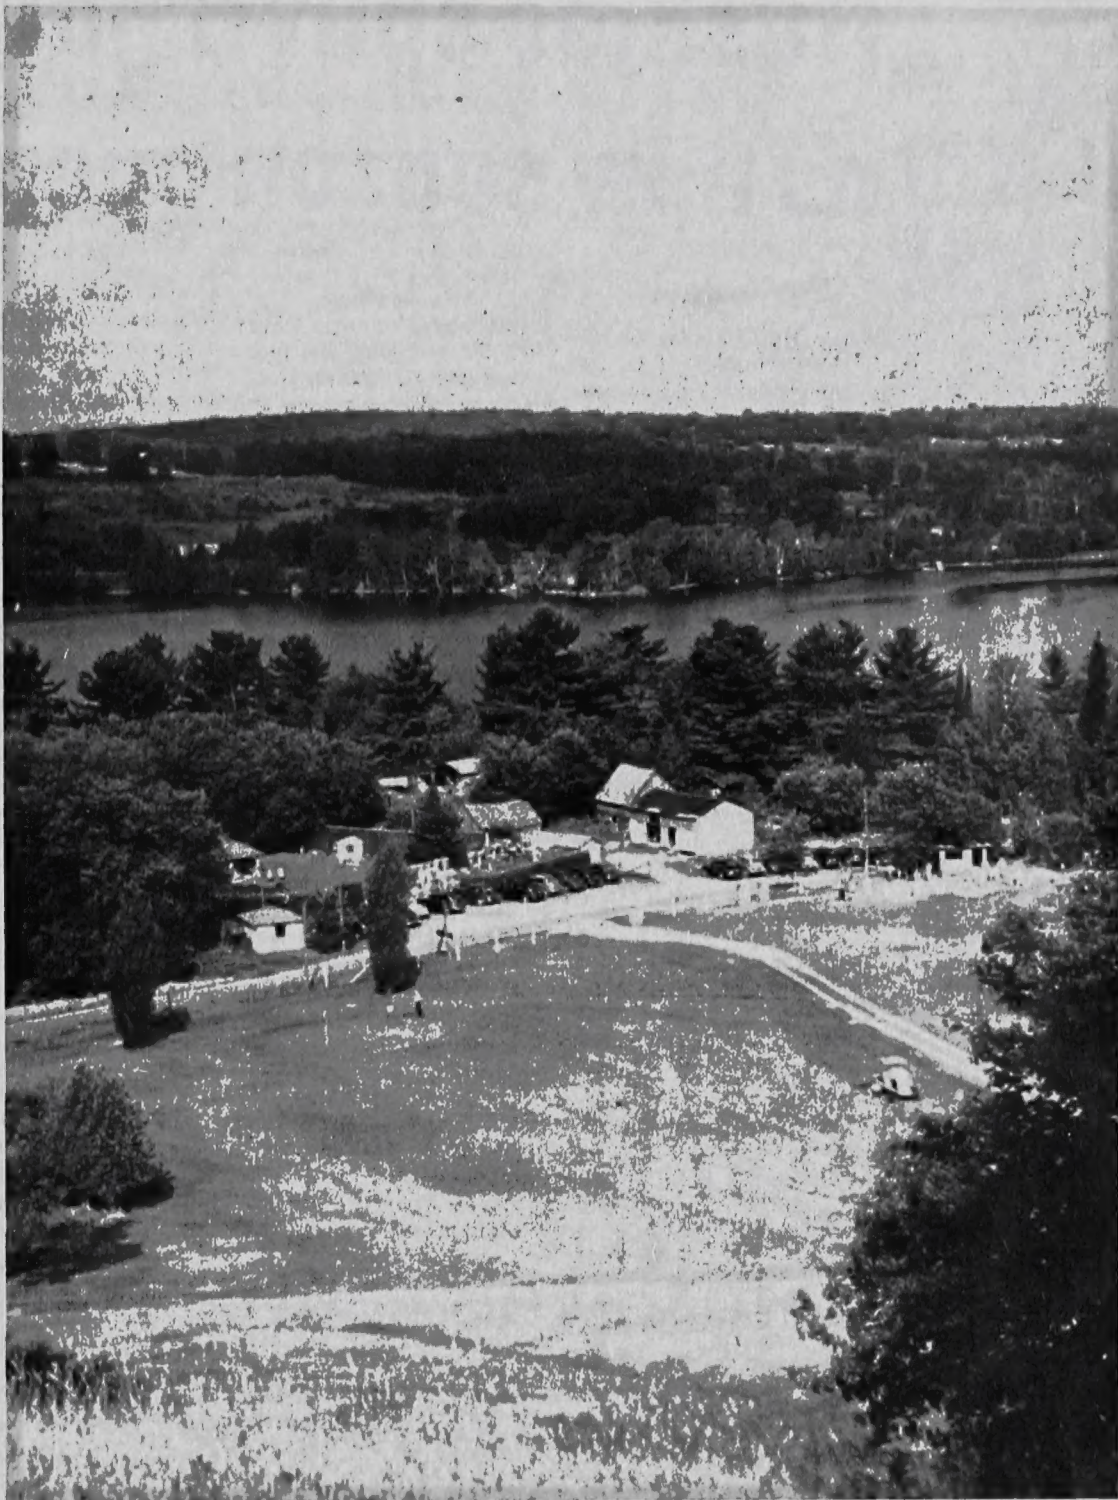

The Rotary Club of Haliburton passed a motion at their last meeting to buy an organ for the Senior Citizens Apartments on Mountain Street in Haliburton. The local Rotary Club have also donated a set of hockey sweaters to minor hockey and they will be in use this winter.

The local hockey teams from Haliburton plus others from various areas around us have been practicing at the arena in Haliburton for the past month or so and these players should have the jump on many of the other clubs who will be visiting us this winter. For the fourth year in a row the ice was left in at the arena following the activities of the summer hockey school. By the time the regular schedule begins, most of the hockey players, no matter what age, should be in great condition. It is certainly wonderful when one thinks of the advantage we have with artificial ice.

We are certainly pleased to announce that Minden Minor Hockey will be holding a Coaches Clinic (level 1 and level 2) on Friday and Saturday, October 21 and 22 at the Minden Fire Hall. If you would like more information on this subject please call 286-1108.

Mrs. Penrose, who has a cottage on Haliburton Lake, phoned me one day last week to tell me of an incident that happened there recently. According to Mrs. Penrose she was coming from the Centre at Fort Irwin back to her cottage when she spotted a raccoon with an arrow pierced right through its body near the dump on the South Bay Road. It was still alive and she was trying to get through to the proper authorities to get help for the animal. She was astounded to think that some person or persons would do something like this to an animal.

How times does fly. It's hard to believe that we are now just about two months away from Christmas. Speaking on the subject of this upcoming season, the weather experts are telling us that we are in for a real cold winter with plenty of snow. For the sake of business and the economy in this area let's all hope and pray that we get a lot more snow than we did last winter. Some of the old timers tell me that all the signs are there for a long cold winter. We will just have to wait and see.

Pic of the Past

This is certainly a beautiful picture of the Haliburton Highlands Golf Course which was taken in 1938 and at that time it was owned and operated by Peter John Borden. The photo was taken from the top of the hill at the 9th hole showing the clubhouse in the background and beyond that a beautiful view of part of Lake Kashagawigamog. Our thanks to Norman P. Smith of R.R. 2, Haliburton for giving us permission to run this photo.

Report from Parliament

Bill Scott, M.P.

Now that summer has gasped its last breath, one of the most beautiful seasons of the year has proliferated its colour spectrum on all horizons like a peacock.

Parliament has returned to its normal bantering which accompanies the careful scrutiny of proposed legislation. Most of the bills that the government declared were its priorities in this session have been dealt with. Thus, it would appear that this session may be prorogued before the one week recess on November 4.

Speculation is that the Throne Speech to be given at the start of the new session will be filled with goodies designed to make the electorate forget the economic woes of the country. This would seem to make sense, as it will most likely be the last Throne Speech before the next election. I hope that the measures are substantial and meaningful and not just all wind and fury designed to distract attention rather than cure the real problems facing Canadians.

One of the areas that many of you express concern to me about is postal service. Two major issues that have recently arisen in this regard are the removal of a number of postal pick-up boxes in Lindsay, and the decision of the Rideau Division of Canada Post to require all mail carrier contracts above $10,000 to be submitted to public tender when the current contract expires. On the latter issue, I asked Canada Post for an explanation of why this decision was made in light of the fact that in 1981 the President of Canada Post stated that "A contract for the transportation of mail is usually for a period of five years and may be renewed for a further period not exceeding five years when the expenditure under it by the Canada Post Corporation in any contract year does not exceed $25,000." They have now reversed the recent decision and all those who have received letters due to their expiring contract being under $10,000 will be re-instated as long as the performance has been satisfactory.

I have brought the issue of the postal pick-up boxes in Lindsay to the attention of Michael Warren. To date, I have had no response. As a follow-up, I prepared a question for the Minister responsible for Canada Post in the House of Commons. I hope this will bring some action.

From the Chamber

Several months ago the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce decided to embark on a different system of management. A new part-time position of marketing and sales representative was created to complement the position of a full time manager. Last week at their monthly meeting the board came to the regrettable conclusion that the steps taken just a few months ago were not in the best interest of the Chamber of the County. To correct the problems that have appeared recently they have decided that re-organization will be necessary. The part-time position will be eliminated and the manager's job will be expanded to include administration and public relations plus the marketing and sales aspects of the job. The board therefore wishes to announce that Frank McCarron and Robert Stinson are no longer employed by the Chamber. The Board of Directors will reconvene on Tuesday, October 11 to decide on a future course of action. At that time a committee will be established to consider administrative personnel.

Queen's Park Report

John Eakins, M.P.P.

I receive many letters from constituents wondering how to go about securing employment, either temporary or full-time, with the Liquor Control Board of Ontario. Many have felt that in order to secure employment you have to know which string to pull. I thought it was time to ascertain the Board's hiring policy with regard to filling vacancies when they occur.

I wrote to Mr. G.T. Lang, the personnel director, and the following is an excerpt from his letter on how to proceed:

"When permanent vacancies occur temporary employees, who have a current application for full-time employment, in the geographic area are then invited to a pre-employment examination. Employees who successfully complete this examination are then assessed in terms of a personal interview and work performance reports submitted by the District Supervisor with consideration being given to their amount of temporary service."

"At one time the local manager was responsible for the hiring of temporary employees, but this proved in some cases to be unsatisfactory, hence the present procedure.

"The exception to this system will be the hiring of Christmas help. It would be impossible to administer this function through the Personnel Department, therefore, managers are instructed to hire their own Christmas help on a quasi-contract basis with the understanding that this work ceases on December 24."

So if you wish employment with the LCBO, make sure you have an application submitted, and I recommend it be renewed every six months to a year. Send applications to: Personnel Director, Liquor Control Board of Ontario, 55 Lake Shore Blvd., East, Toronto, Ontario, MSE 1A4.

Mr. Lang's method of hiring makes common sense to me, and it certainly gives everyone equal opportunity. If you have the requirements for the job, chances are good that you will get a crack at it. Let's hope it continues to work this way. Good luck with your applications.

school bus accident before anything is done to make the buses safer for our children." Well, we all know what happened Friday morning. Until we knew our children were safe we went through some terrifying moments - and then of course not everybody's children were safe!

It was a miracle that people were not killed on that bus. The majority of injuries were to the face because of lack of seatbelts and overcrowding. I appeal to the school board to seriously consider making school buses safe for our children - seatbelts - education and drills on how to use them and strict enforcement of their use. I'm sure the buses would be safer and happier places if some individuals travelling on them would be physically restrained. Not wearing a seat belt in Ontario is considered a serious offence penalized by a fine. Why are school buses getting off scot-free? We all know it comes down to money. I think our children are worth the money - don't you?

A concerned parent,
(Mrs.) Jennifer Woods

To the Editor:

I would appreciate if you would be kind enough to put this letter in your local paper.

Parents! On September 14, 1983 my son who attends I.E. Weldon Secondary School in Lindsay had his pants taken from the locker room while out at football practice.

Using the locker room on the same day after school was the Haliburton High School Senior and junior soccer players along with the I.E. Weldon teams.

I am asking anyone who might know where these pants are to send them back and I will pay the postage.

They are black pants made of nylon parachute material with zippers across the legs, small belt loops, and a black nylon belt. The value of these pants are approximately $48.

I have also notified the police in Lindsay and they said they would notify the police in Haliburton. I would hate to see some person picked up for stealing.

It is a shame that all the Haliburton and Weldon students and both schools get a bad reputation because of one person.

Today it may be my sons pants, tomorrow it could be something of yours of more value when he visits your home.

To the Editor:

Three months ago at my request the Board of Directors selected a new manager and I reduced my responsibilities with the Chamber of Commerce. Last week at a meeting of the Board of Directors I and the Board agreed the new system was not working to the benefit of either myself or the Chamber. As a part of the solution to the problem I proposed that the part-time position that had been created for me be dispensed with and I am therefore no longer working for the Chamber of Commerce.

I wish to stress that I am in full agreement with the decision the Board has just made and I believe it to be in the best interests of the Chamber and its members under the circumstances. I will continue to support the goals of the Chamber and I urge all members of the community to do the same.

I would sincerely like to thank all of the people who have worked with me, either on the Board or in the background over the past eight years for not only their help, but their consideration and encouragement. It is gratifying to know that these efforts are beginning to show results and we can look forward to even better days ahead of our County. I look forward to chatting with many of you, as always, at the Annual Meeting on October 19.

Yours truly,
Bob Stinson

To the Editor:

I really don't know why it should amaze Creighton Feir (Feir Play, Sept. 28) that clubs should have to go rushing to local businesses for funds.

In many cases local business benefits from the organization of a club for more than any individual member of the club. A major activity of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association has been to solicit business memberships. In 1983 over 80 businesses became members and in any normal winter many tens of thousands of dollars would have been pumped into the local economy. As it was the club spent over $30,000 and many members came up to the County for winter weekends. I personally take my business (summer and winter) to club business members. I use my cottage for all four seasons and if the club did not have such a good reputation then I would not have located in Haliburton County.

With the withdrawal of government funds, clubs have to walk a fine line between increased dues, funds raising and soliciting funds. I know I would not have a subscription to your paper if I had not bought a cottage in the County. In actual fact your paper is riding on the coat-tails of those businesses that can see the benefit of supporting clubs which bring people and money into the Highlands. I am willing to pay my share and do my bit to support local business but outright condemnation of those clubs which solicit funds is not only bad for the community but is also very short sighted. Business people must make their own decisions and your voice in shaping decisions by such negative comments do little to create that much needed rapport between clubs that support business and the people who spend the money.

To the Editor:

With dismay, I read the article in your issue of October 5, 1983, regarding the plight of the 1983/1984 Concert Series arranged by the Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts.

The diligence, consideration and sheer hard work of the organizers of the concerts are greatly appreciated by we who enjoy participation in live performance.

Sports and similar activities receive the support of the community - rightly so. Why not extend equal support to the Guild of Fine Arts in their efforts to develop and maintain a cultural activity? To me, and others of like mind, this facet of community life should not be permitted to sink into oblivion due to lack of support.

Yours truly,

Field hockey players from Kawartha schools were in Haliburton last Thursday to participate in a one day tournament. There was plenty of action as the teams tested the skills they've acquired in weeks of practice. Here a Haliburton player connects with the ball while other players rush to get in on the play.

Huskies split a pair as new season opens

By BRYAN ABBS

The Huskies took to the road on Friday night for the opening of the 1983-84 season in Huntsville and came home on the short end of a 9-7 score.

Haliburton took a 5-2 lead at the end of the first period on goals by Scott Arbuthnot, Dave Nicholls, Tony Scheffer, Jeff Smith, and Scott Rae.

In the second, two more goals by Arbuthnot ended the Huskies scoring. Huntsville scored four unanswered goals in the third, the last one into an empty net as the Huskies tried for a tie.

In this game it was a case of Huntsville wearing the Huskies down and Haliburton taking far too many loose penalties. But the Huskies were minus four regulars due to injuries; defencemen Rob Abbs, Jim Lee and Drew Bishop and forward Glen Evans.

These players should be back on Saturday night for the Huskies home opener and things should turn around.

Nicholls sharp

Led by centre Dave Nicholls' two goals and four assists, the Haliburton Huskies opened the season at home on Saturday night by whipping Penetang 8-4. The game featured good defence by the Huskies and excellent goaltending by Colin Newell.

Haliburton never trailed in the game and opened the scoring at the 47 second mark when Jeff Stamp scored on passes from Scott Arbuthnot and Nicholls. At 1:53 it was Bernie Upton from Steve Smith and Barry Boice.

Penetang then started to roll, and finally scored at 7:33. With the Huskies short handed Penetang scored at 13:07 to tie the game.

The Huskies came back at 18:19 as Arbuthnot scored from Nicholls and Stamp with Haliburton taking a 3-2 lead going into the second period.

The second period was all Haliburton as the Huskies turned on the jets and scored five unanswered goals. The first came just seven seconds into the period as Scott Rae scored from Nicholls and Arbuthnot. At 3:20 it was Stamp on pretty passes from Nicholls and Arbuthnot. Then at 9:15 Nicholls tallied from Stamp. Arbuthnot scored at 9:47 from Rae and Jim Lee and at 17:32 it was Nicholls again from Upton and Boice and the Huskies had a comfortable 8-2 lead.

The period featured a display of great goalkeeping by Colin Newell who at one point stopped four point-blank shots while the Huskies were short handed. He was aided by some excellent blocking by his defence.

The period was marred by some unnecessary penalties on both sides and the referee handled the situation accordingly.

The third period saw Penetang sputter for two goals at 11:29 and 15:31 but it was game over and the Huskies won going away by a score of 8-4.

The Huskies will take on Oro on the road Friday night, and on Saturday they'll face Midland at the Dysart arena. Game time is 8 p.m.

Harrison Trail:

A perfect place to take a walk

The "Harrison Woods Nature Trail", provides a colourful walk in early October.

After laying out a very interesting kilometre long walking trail through his eight hectares of rolling woodland just west of Carnarvon, Ross Harrison, a well known resident of Carnarvon, donated this beautiful parcel of land to the Province of Ontario in 1975 to be open to school children and the public in general.

This trail, now maintained by the Ministry of Natural Resources, is accessible from a parking lot situated on the north side of Hwy. 118 about 100 metres west of Highway 35 at Carnarvon.

After a short walk westerly along the road right-of-way, the pathway meanders through stands of mature mixed hardwood and conifer, where many tree species have been identified with small metal plaques. It also traverses areas of second growth hardwoods and a 23 year old red pine plantation. At one point it follows the historic Peterson Colonization Road for a short distance.

A number of wildlife species may be encountered, but it must be remembered that animals here in their natural habitat often disappear with the approach of noisy humans.

It is hoped that many local school groups as well as the general public will take advantage of this very pleasant, easily accessible, and educational walk with nature.

Remember - take only pictures and leave only tracks.

For further information please contact the District Manager, Ministry of Natural Resources, Minden, Ontario.

The girls' field hockey team at Haliburton Highland Secondary school saw plenty of action last Thursday during a one day tournament at the school. This weekend the team will travel to Oakville for a regional competition that will test their skills against teams from high schools throughout south central Ontario.

Water levels cause problem but are a boon to lake trout

The Trent-Severn Waterway reservoir lakes declined 3.1% over the past week, having 35.3% of their storage remaining on October 3, 1983.

The spring and summer of 1983 are an indicator of the Trent-Severn Waterway's success in trying to keep things "normal" despite widely varying weather conditions. In May, when 187.2 mm or 225% of the normal amount of rain fell on the reservoir area, some flooding occurred, but the average amount of storage was 107%, only 10% higher than the normal 97%. During June, July and August only about 55% of the normal amount of precipitation fell, yet the reservoir levels ended the season only 15% lower than normal.

The summer of 1983 will be remembered as one of almost perfect summer weather - and also one of water problems for many people. The Trent-Severn Waterway must constantly balance the demand for water from the reservoirs with the realization that the cottagers, residents and businesses on those reservoirs would also like to use the same water. The people using the reservoirs, while enjoying the fine weather, endured the problems caused by much lower than average water levels. Many towns and villages, especially those along the Trent River, from Hastings to Trenton have suffered with water having a definite "swampy" taste and odour, caused by the low flows and hot weather producing higher than normal amounts of algae.

One group who should benefit from the low water levels are fishermen who go after lake trout, which spawn in the fall, often on very shallow gravel bars. In past years, the Trent-Severn Waterway lowered the reservoirs having lake trout populations to winter level by October 1, to prevent trout spawn being left high and dry by receding water levels. In recent years, due to the increased use of the lakes by cottagers up till Thanksgiving weekend, the lakes are kept as high as possible till about the middle of October, then any surplus water is run off as quickly as possible. Many times this draw off has coincided with the spawning period, and many eggs were lost. This year, because of the fact that

Protection law aimed at toddlers

Small children are particularly vulnerable in a car, especially in a sudden stop or crash.

And who hasn't seen cars whizzing by with youngsters standing on the seat, hanging out the window or lying on the back window shelf.

Well, on November 1 these potentially dangerous situations should be greatly curtailed as some 90,000 toddlers now travelling unrestrained in a motor vehicle, are required by Ontario law to be placed in car seats designed to hold them safely and securely.

From that date, toddlers between 9 and 18 kg. (20-40 lbs.) must be in an appropriate, approved car seat while travelling in their parents' or legal guardian's car -- or in a lap belt if in someone else's car.

They must be restrained in a front-facing seat, preferably in the back of the car, with the harness straps done up and the seat secured by a lap belt and tether strap.

The tether strap is particularly important because it prevents the seat from pitching forward or sideways in a sudden stop or crash. It requires a bolt to be securely fastened into the back window shelf or floor, directly behind the child seat.

For parents looking for a car seat, there are different kinds available in a variety of stores and all meet federal standards.

It's particularly important to look for an approved car seat since other seats designed for use in the home are often available in the same location in a store.

However, such seats, which are usually cheaper than a car seat, are not designed as car seats and do not provide the necessary protection.

Because of the variety of seats available, the appropriate one can only be chosen by parents after careful consideration as to which best suits them and their child.

For example, the seat must fit easily into the car and the harness buckle must be convenient to do up and undo. If the buckle is a struggle, parents may not take the time to buckle their child in properly.

Seats also come in a variety of widths and heights so it's well to remember youngsters spend many months in bulky snowsuits and choose accordingly.

Choosing an appropriate seat is important, but equally important is following the manufacturer's instructions as to installation and use. Lives have been lost because these seats have not been used properly.

The facts speak for themselves.

An 18-month old child was killed instantly when thrown from a car in an accident. Mute testimony to what might have been had he been properly buckled in, was the seat which remained, intact and undamaged, in the car.

In another case, a 22-month old child died of severe head injuries - in spite of being securely strapped in the proper seat. An investigation revealed the seat was not secured to the car by either a lap belt or a tether strap.

These are examples of cases where children have been killed and does not reflect the tragedy of those who have been severely injured or maimed for life.

Perhaps the saddest fact is that small children are particularly prone to head injuries and can be left brain damaged and helpless for life after a car accident.

In 1982, 10 children under four years of age were killed in Ontario traffic accidents and 1,324 were injured. Even though the law covering infant restraints only went into effect on November 1, 1982, these figures are considerably better than corresponding figures for 1981 when 20 were killed and 1,595 were injured.

It is hoped that, as parents comply with the law which now requires all children to be properly restrained, these figures will improve even more, and the heartbreak and suffering hidden in such stark statistics will be greatly lessened.

The Ontario law regarding car seats was introduced in two stages: first for the newborn and preschooler on November 1, 1982 and now for the toddler.

This was done to allow parents, with several small children, time to absorb the cost of outfitting their youngsters with the appropriate car seats.

Thus for almost a year now, infants up to 9 kg. (20 lbs.) have been required to travel at all times in a rear-facing infant carrier or the infant position of a convertible seat designed for both infants and toddlers.

Infants must be fastened into their seat using the total harness strap and the seat

It is a lovely morning and it gives you a thrill to look across and see the colour on the hill. Our administrator is on two weeks holiday, we won't cause him any worry while he is away. Have a nice holiday, forget Hyland Crest; to be good children, we will do our best.

At chapel service Sunday night we had no one the music to play. Both Hal and Ruth Thompson were away. Trust Rev. Burgess to always look away beyond. He brought a tape recorder and played a lovely choir singing from away across the pond. Mrs. Burgess read Psalm 32 and led in prayer, a really interesting service, but not too many there.

Millie Wood is around this morning looking very fine, she had some of her family in last night to dine. Different ones came to visit their mothers this weekend: Bill Johnson, Ray Jenkins and the Cox family and many others, some to visit sisters, or some to visit brothers. The Shorters' sons came up from Oshawa and had a nice visit in their town house with his Ma and Pa. We watched Monday night, three movies over all "Bluebirds of Happiness," "Northern Games" and "Cornhusk Dolls."

Tuesday morning Rev. John Phillips of the Anglican church, Haliburton, conducted Communion service in the chapel. He played and sang "He Touched Me" (a beautiful solo). Rev. Phillips we are always glad to see. Dear Agnes:

It is with deep regret from the residents here when we learned of your leaving after serving so faithfully for so many years. You played the organ in the chapel, week after week, no remuneration ever did seek. Please accept this gift of our appreciation, we hope you will be happy in your new location. Our prayers go with you whatever you do and may God's richest blessing rest upon you.

Tuesday afternoon we had a memory test on history. We were divided into groups A and B. It surely sharpened the wits of everyone, interesting and a lot of fun. Then Tuesday night was music night, Earl Cooper couldn't come. Cathy Owens and Al Smith came and really made things hum.

We have nurse Lynda

Did you know - that Ontario Hydro has a Residential Energy Advisory Program (REAP) currently running?

A representative from Hydro comes to your home to conduct an energy survey. The representative from Ontario Hydro looks at problem areas such as insulation, windows, heating systems and major appliances. This service is free of charge and when the check has been made the representative then sits down with you and makes recommendations on how to better your home's energy efficiency. The recommendations would include such things as: adjustments to the temperature of your hot water tank, improving the insulation, or a more efficient heating system.

They will also advise you of any monies that may be obtained through Federal grants. Ontario Hydro could also offer you a loan up to $2,000 for any renovations that are made from their recommendations. This loan payment would be added to your monthly bill and is awarded on the basis of past payment records.

If you are interested in taking advantage of the REAP program contact Mr. Jeff Hughes at Ontario Hydro, Minden. (705) 286-2031.

One other thing I would like to point out is that residents of Anson, Hindon and Minden, Dysart et al and Monmouth Townships are still eligible for the Residential Rehabilitation Assistance Program (RRAP). RRAP is designed to assist homeowners make necessary renovations, to extend the life of older homes.

For further information on the RRAP program call us at 457-2733 or drop in to the County Information Centre, located at the Drag River Municipal Building in Haliburton. Our office is open Monday through Friday, 10 am to 4 pm.

And remember, you will never know the answer until you ask the question.

In the absence of President McKay, who was away on holidays, Comrade Mike Hawman chaired Branch 129's general meeting on October 6, 1983. Mrs. MacDonald was introduced, as a goodwill gesture, she presented Branch 129 with a flag from her branch in Toronto, Australia. One comrade, William N. Dislay, was initiated.

Heartiest congratulations to Joan and Ken Bowins of Coboconk and Claire and Rosemary Bennett of Agincourt who Saturday, October 1 at 6:40 a.m. became grandparents for the first time when their children Cathy and Bill Bowins of Pickering became the proud parents of a beautiful daughter. Her name is Christine Diane and she arrived at Scarborough Centenary Hospital weighing in at 8 lbs. 9½ oz. Joan and Ken showed up at the Kirkfield Lions Bingo last Tuesday evening wearing matching tee-shirts with the words: "It's a girl: I'm a grandma/grandpa."

A date to remember: it's Oktoberfest time. Place: Galway Hall on Galway Road, south from Kinmount; date: Saturday, October 15 from 8:30 p.m. on. There will be a Bavarian buffet at midnight. Proceeds will go towards the Children's Christmas party which is sponsored each year by the Galway Firefighters. For further information or advance tickets you may call Angela at 488-2451.

The preschool Playschool really started with a bang last Tuesday when approximately 21 little ones showed up complete with mothers. It was a better turnout than expected, I'm told, and the fun times will continue from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. each Tuesday and Thursday. Chris Weerdenburg, Marlene Munro and Peg Stender are three of the young ladies who will be supervising. I have it on good authority that the moms were having as much or more fun than the wee ones, especially when singing "I'm a little teapot." The place is Kinmount Community Centre.

Also at the hall last week, the girls up to twelve years of age started their gym classes. Congratulations to Bud Otto of Coboconk area who was the winner of $33 in the Kinmount Legion 50/50 draw. Barb and Reg McCluney would like to thank their friends for the surprise party held in honour of Reg's birthday and their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Some 20 party makers showed up and a great time was had by all. Barb and Reg will long remember the thoughtfulness of their friends and wish to say thank you for the nice gifts and cards and of course, the party.

Smoldering cigarette stubs have a habit of rolling behind sofa and chair pillows and cushions, hiding until everyone is asleep. Then they erupt into fast-moving flames that put life in danger.

On September 27 the C.W.L. held nine tables of Euchre at St. Patrick's Hall and results were: ladies' high, Martha Mansfield; ladies' low, Florence Schlosser; men's high, Norma Hamilton; men's low, Ambrose Watson and lone hands, Vi Cooke.

The Kinmount Senior Citizens Club 714 will hold their annual card party and penny table along with a draw for a quilt and cushions at the Kinmount Royal Canadian Legion Hall on Thursday, October 13 at 8:00 p.m. Admission is one dollar and lunch will be served. Everyone is welcome.

Results of the St. James euchre party, Tuesday, October 4 were: ladies' high, Verlie Young; ladies' low, Irene McNamara; men's high, H. Munro, who also held most lone hands. Men's low, Vi Cooke.

Betty and John Lonsdale travelled to the Huntsville area last week on a camping trip with their new camper only to return home sooner than intended because of rain.

Recent visitors to our house were Helen and Alex Graham, Mary and John Pyke, all or Norland.

I hope to hear Sam Telford and all our other ailing friends including the dozen children hurt in the bus/truck accident recently will be all well very soon.

By the time you read this Thanksgiving will have come and gone once again and I hope you all enjoyed your holiday and took the time to count your blessings.

The ambulance seen at Archie, Zita and Boyd Williamson's home last week was there to take Mr. Williamson to have the cast removed from his foot. He's coming along well now.

Some hearts, like evening primroses, open more beautifully in the shadows of life.

I hope you're feeling better, Mary O'Toole.

By the way, T.J.'s in town, is now being operated by Cindy Watson. The premises have been changed around somewhat and will operate as a restaurant along with ice cream, pop, candy, etc. There are a few groceries and a good supply of prize winning (at all the fairs) homemade fudge. Drop in and say "hi" to Cindy. She's also making homemade soup, a different kind each day. Good too, I tried it!

Thanksgiving Sunday Zion Church had such a large congregation. It was filled to overflowing. The church was beautifully decorated with coloured leaves, flowers, fruit and vegetable and the proverbial loaf of bread. Music by both Senior and Junior choirs and an inspiring message completed the service. Almost everyone stayed for the coffee hour and greeted old friends and said good-bye to others. I should mention that three generations of the Clark family sang in the choir.

The October meeting of the ACW was chaired by Fran Clark. Marion Barsley gave the history of Zion Church and explained how it received its name. The meeting was held at the Higginbottom home, the property now owned by the Russell family - Blanche Windsor's maternal grandfather donated the land. It was an interesting report, most of it obtained from minutes of the church over the years.

Wild geese flying south and the frost on the pumpkin has made some of the residents think of leaving for Florida soon.

The meeting was short for tables had to be set up for the dinner that evening for Rev. Westhaver and his bride. Around 125 sampled the abundant food. An orchestra provided some lovely music after which Mr. and Mrs. Love showed interesting slides of their trip to China with Dr. McClure. Mrs. Love was an excellent commentator. The pastor and his wife were then presented with a gift, to which our pastor made a fitting reply.

The Anglican Church at Maple Lake held their usual successful annual Thanksgiving dinner on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. W. Peeling are spending a holiday with Carole's parents, the Lew Tompkins.

Almost everyone has some of their family for the weekend.

The leaves are at their best and, after a few wet days, we are glad to see the sunshine.

Robert Bateman, the famous artist, is having a chalet built at Buck Slides.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Mason attended the funeral on Thursday of Mrs. Olive Purkis. Although they have lived in Orillia the past few years, the funeral was held in Beaverton, their former home. Sympathy is extended to her husband and two sons. Olive was the niece of Mrs. Bert Harrison.

Mr. Hal Burton had a three-day visit with the George Cowans of Brampton and had some good fishing.

The Senior Citizens enjoyed a pot luck dinner last Tuesday evening and enjoyed a time of visitation afterward. Winners in the Seniors card games were as follows: ladies 1st - Mildred Faulkner, 74; 2nd Jean Barker, 73; lone hands - Eleanor Hanna, 3; consolation - May Basinger; gents 1st - Don Alguire, 93; 2nd - Judy McDonald, 87; most lone hands - Don Alguire, 8; consolation - Richard Walker, Bridge; 1st - Stevie Steeves, 4630; second - Jack McNeil, 4564; consolation - Charlotte Patterson, 430.

Bob and Joan Rumney recently enjoyed a holiday in Northern Ontario, at Geraldton and other points.

Sanford and Fanny Richman are home again after a visit with daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Fell at Coldwater. Congratulations to Fanny and Sandy who celebrated their 64th wedding anniversary at their daughter's last week. One grand daughter was able to attend but the other, and husband and girl were unable to attend but sent their greetings. May you have many more years together folks!

The ladies who worked so hard last summer on the new Kawartha Red Cross Swimming Program were happy to be appreciated by at least one happy mom. The previous year they took a lot of criticism so thankfully, all their efforts were not in vain. In part, a letter from Laura Saunders reads: Thanks for the committee which supports and directs the new Kawartha Water Safety Program. It is a considerable undertaking and you are to be commended for the quality of the program that is offered in Coboconk.

All three of my children thoroughly enjoyed their classes and were thrilled by their progress reports and awards. Thank you for keeping the program active. Signed, Laura Saunders.

It is so nice of you to thank the gals who are behind this, Mrs. Saunders!

Congratulations to local librarian Chris Kerr who celebrated her 39th birthday on October 9, to Myrtle Faulkner on October 10 and LOBA member, Dorothy Hodgson of Burnt River on October 11. You are holding the age line at bay, girls.

We were guests at a lovely wedding in Toronto last week. Nephew Jim Lake wed Liz Walden in Parkview United Church at Don Mills. The reception was held at the Ramanda Renaissance Hotel at Kennedy Road and Highway 401. Among those attending from Coby were Mrs. Cora Lake, Sam and Zella Endicott, Clint and Heather Hirstwood, Charlie and Roslyn Cameron, Carl Lake and Christine Harris, the Wilbert Switzer family and my husband and I. We all enjoyed the wedding and reception and met a lot of "new" relatives by marriage.

Have you taken a drive north this past two weeks? You surely should just to see our beautiful leaves. I've been north a few times and the colours are at their best. Make it this week if you possibly can.

With our local IGA store and the hardware store being broken into the past week, its a warning to keep your doors locked and watch for suspicious characters about. Isn't it a shame that these things are happening more and more often? Our local police were really active on Friday evening keeping law and order. With so many travelling, so many drink and driving offences they are kept super busy.

There are many ways to heat house with wood

For many centuries wood fires were not only used for heat but for cooking and a source of light. The evolution to electricity and fossil fuels mostly eliminated the use of wood as a fuel and therefore new users must adapt to a renewed skill.

There are four major types of wood burning equipment on the market:

- Fireplaces - including build-in masonry and zero clearance units, fireplace inserts and outserts, tube grates and free standing metal units.

- Air-tight stoves - including thermostatic circulators and radiant heaters.

- Traditional stoves - including Franklin, box, parlor, pot-belly, barrel and cooking types.

- Furnaces - including boilers, dual fuel and add-on types.

The net efficiency of an open hearth masonry fireplace is probably a minus efficiency due to the fact that the radiant energy heating the room is more than offset by the warm air drawn up the chimney from the rest of the home.

Therefore any addition to an existing fireplace such as glass doors, tube grates or a heatilator would be an efficiency improvement.

As to what kind of unit to install will depend on your own conservation goals and the time your prepared to put into obtaining and splitting wood and feeding your appliance.

As mentioned above a fireplace will only heat the adjacent area. A free-standing air-tight or traditional stove, strategically located can heat a complete home and will understandably be more efficient if equipped with a blower. However it will be warmer in the area of the unit compared to far reaches of the home. If such a unit is installed in the basement consideration should be given to installing floor grates to accommodate the rising heat.

There is no doubt that a central heating wood furnace, which distributes heat through ducts and properly installed with a cold air return system, is the most efficient of all. In most cases these units do not require the splitting of logs and will burn any size of wood that will fit through the feed door.

The BTU input or output of your current system will be identified on the rating plate. If you are satisfied with your current BTU output your wood heating equipment capacity would be less due to the fact that you will obtain a constant heat from your wood appliance. The heat output will reduce if it is controlled by a bi-metal or an electric thermostat but it will not shut off completely like an oil, gas or electric furnace.

Proper installation is key to safety of wood units

One of the questions asked most frequently is - can I install my own wood heating unit? The answer is yes. However a licensed or experienced installer is highly recommended. Through his experience he can recommend several types of units which will suit your needs as well as where it should be installed in order to provide the best results.

Most dealers also have sufficient experience in recommending the proper unit to meet your requirements. Also make sure it is a CSA or ULC approved unit.

If you are considering looking after your own installation contact your local municipal office which will provide the required installation regulations for your area. You will probably require a building permit and the installation is subject to inspection by the local Building Inspector, before, during and after installation.

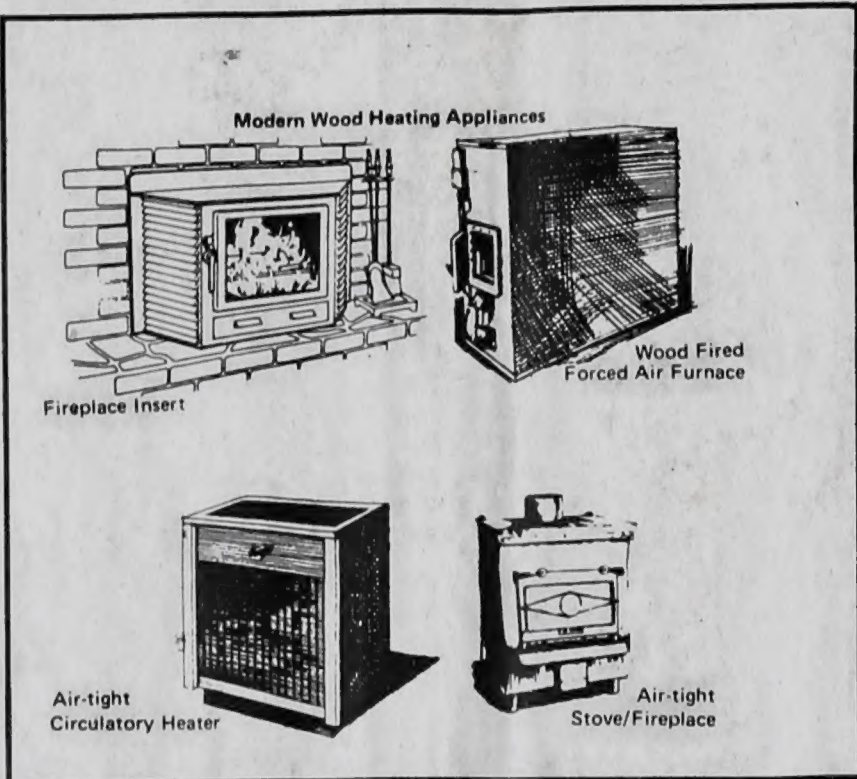

Also check with your insurance agent in order to find out if your insurance policy has any limitations as far as heating with wood is concerned. It is most important that the manufacturer's instructions be carefully read prior to any installation. The manufacturer will outline the necessary minimum clearances from combustible materials. These will be minimum clearances and if space is available increase these minimums. Stoveboards and wall-boards such as the approved Hunter Heatguard are available in order to reduce clearances and are also an added safety feature, without using asbestos.

Before starting the installation, select the optimum location for the heating unit, taking into account the location of the chimney, the shape and size of the area to be heated, heat loss of the building and make sure that there is sufficient supply of combustion air for the fire.

If you are using an existing masonry chimney make sure that it is in good condition. If you are installing a pre-fab chimney it should be ULC approved and under no circumstances should the chimney be any smaller than the diameter of the flue pipe on the appliance. Most manufacturers will recommend that a reverse method of joining chimney lengths is recommended so that in the event of creosote formation the creosote will flow back into the heater or furnace and be burned rather than drop out between the pipe joints.

The installation of a smoke detector as well as having a fire extinguisher close by are added safety features.

Cut your fuel bills in half

Make sure the unit is CSA or ULC approved

To cut your fuel bills this winter the purchase of a good CSA or ULC approved wood heater or stove is an investment that can pay for itself in one winter. It can cut fuel bills one third to as much as 50 percent, depending upon the price of wood.

CSA or ULC approved means the appliance has been tested by the Canadian Standards Association or Underwriters Laboratory of Canada to make sure it is safe when properly installed.

But which heater or stove to choose? It's a serious purchase. It depends upon the size of your house and rooms and whether you are looking for maximum efficiency or something that will just look nice instead of a fireplace. Talk to your heating contractor or stove retailer - he's an expert.

Woodburning heaters can be divided into two types, radiant and circulating space heaters.

A radiant heater may be built of cast iron or a heavy gauge steel which throws heat into the surrounding area. A circulating space heater will be equipped with an outside cabinet which permits air to flow between the combustion chamber wall and the cabinet wall. With children around, a circulating heater will provide an extra measure of safety and prevent possible serious burns.

There are two methods of regulating the air intake into the combustion chamber of a radiant or circulating wood heater. Some units are equipped with sliding air grates, air adjustment knobs or a bi-metal thermostat. When you are able to regulate the combustion air intake

Two chimney choices:

Masonry or factory built are the options

What kind of chimney does one buy for a wood heating appliance? There are only two types of chimneys which may be considered safe if they are in good condition and properly installed. These are a masonry chimney and a factorybuilt class "A" chimney.

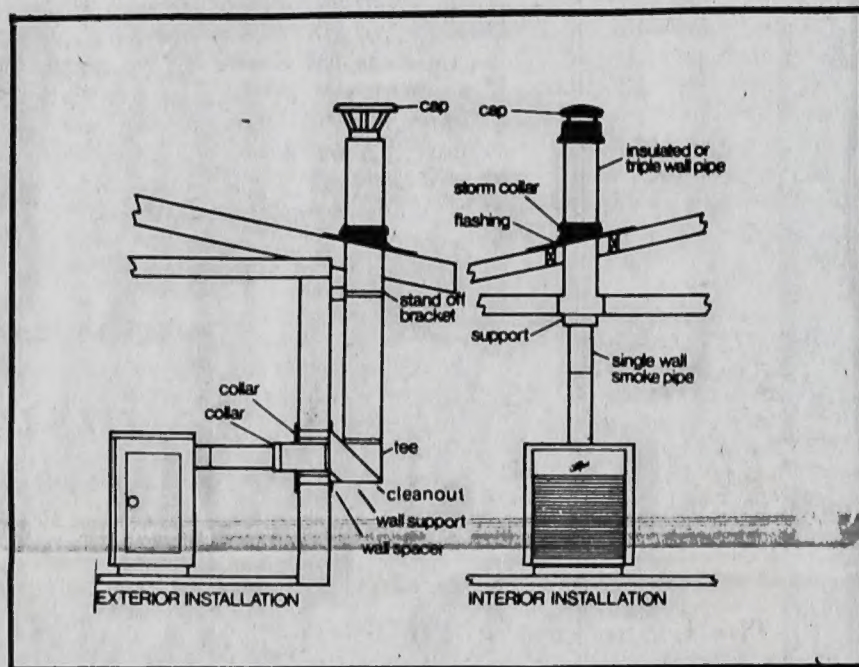

A masonry chimney will be built of stone or brick and will surround a flue liner with an air space in between. This air space may be filled with insulation. The chimney itself should have a two inch clearance from any combustibles.

Masonry chimneys should have fireclay liners. Lining an existing chimney is difficult but possible. An easier method is to add a good metal liner. Using a mirror, inspect your chimney from the bottom or clean out door and using a light bulb on an extension check it out from the top. If there are any broken liners a fire hazard is most probable since chimneys must be able to withstand the heat from normal fires as well as chimney fires. Periodical checks should be maintained since masonry chimneys can crack during intense chimney fires.

There are two types of factory-built class "A" chimneys, one is insulated with material and the other air insulated. Both are excellent types and have distinctive advantages. The insulated factory-built chimney will keep rising gases warmer with the result of less creosote whereas the air insulated or air cooled chimney will be less

Wood furnace is best for even house heating

Heating with a wood stove can cut oil, gas or electricity fuel bills 30 percent or more. By using a wood fired furnace, wood becomes the main source of heat unless the home owner is away. The saving in fuel bills can be as high as 80 percent or more.

The modern CSA or ULC approved wood furnace is safe, efficient and reliable and if the power is cut off can be operated without electric controls, unlike an oil, gas or electric furnace.

This system is very similar to any other central heating system that is installed in the basement. Controlled by a wall thermostat and using a cold air return and warm air supply ducts and registers, a wood furnace will supply a comfortable and even heat distribution.

Even heat is provided by the thermostatic control which automatically opens and closes the air access to the combustion chamber. Actually this principle is the main reason why the burning of just a few logs can be maintained for periods of up to twelve hours.

In many cases, due to the size of the combustion chamber, it is not necessary to split the logs. Remember, however, that someone has to carry these logs and feed them into the furnace, so they should not be too heavy to carry. As far as ashes are concerned, these need only be removed from the furnace once a week to every two weeks. (A cord of wood will only produce a bushel of ashes.)

Another very popular method of heating centrally is with a combination wood/oil furnace. These units are equipped with two electric wall thermostats; one controls the wood section and the other the oil section. If the consumer leaves his residence for several days and is unable to refill the wood portion of the furnace, the oil section of the furnace will automatically take over.

Here are a few tips on heating with a wood furnace. If for some reason or another you are not using a blower with your furnace but using it strictly as a gravity unit, raise the furnace off the floor and set it on cement blocks. Cut out the bottom panel of the furnace base and this will provide a better air flow.

When buying a wood furnace see your heating contractor. You need a licensed installer.

subject to damage during a chimney fire.

Class "A" metal chimneys have an inside liner of stainless steel and the outer casing construction may be of stainless steel or galvanized steel. For safety purposes verify these chimneys periodically for any conditions of corrosion or apparent heat marks which will indicate metal fatigue.

Frequent cleaning of metal chimneys will reduce the chance of chimney fires. Inspection openings must be adequately sized to enable a thorough examination from bottom to top.

Chimneys can be cleaned with a snug-fitting chimney brush or you can hire a chimney sweep who can advise you on the cleaning and soundness of your equipment.

The chimney is a key factor in a wood heating system. Consult with your dealer regarding the type and size to be used and the suitable location.

Inserts help fireplaces heat

With the increased use of wood as a fuel, fireplace inserts have become very popular due to the easy and less costly installation especially with the use of an existing fireplace and chimney.

It is estimated that an ordinary fireplace at best has a 15 percent efficiency. If one thinks about how often the regular furnace comes on during the use of a fireplace, because of the great amount of draft that it draws, the net result of a fireplace is a minus efficiency. Since the rate of burning can be controlled with fireplace inserts these are considered to be much more efficient and in turn will greatly reduce the consumption of other fuels for heating the home.

Fireplace inserts have unique features such as using it as a fireplace with a fire screen to prevent hazardous sparks and when you want to use it as an airtight heater you simply remove the Heating with wood can be an economical way to make the cold, dreary days of winter pass a little more quickly. In Haliburton County, where many people have access to wood on their property, it is definitely economical even if the time to cut, and pile it as well as maintenance to machinery is included.

If you don't own a woodlot, it may still be more economical to heat with wood than with other forms of energy, even if you have to buy it in ready to burn form.

The accompanying table relates the cost of burning different species of wood (bush cord value 4'x4'x8') to the equivalent energy in furnace oil. The current price of approximately $1.21 per gallon was used for the fuel oil prices.

The table also contains the relative heat values of different species and reveals that hardwoods have the highest heat value per bush cord, simply because the wood is more dense. All woods produce a similar amount of heat per unit of weight averaging 5,800 BTU's per air dried pound.

the unit is more commonly known as an airtight unit and the burning time can be prolonged up to six or more hours which reduces the cost of fuel wood. A unit equipped with a bi-metal thermostat, which opens and closes the combustion air damper, will provide a more even and constant heat.

It takes the proper equipment to do the proper job. Too large a unit will result in long periods of low burning and may cause creosote and too small a unit will result in inadequate heating.

A Typical Fireplace Insert

Fireplace inserts:

They can turn heat waster into heat producer screen and install a full door. The amount of heat is then controlled by automatic damper or front dampers.

There are many models and sizes of fireplace inserts and it is important that you know the size of the fireplace opening and how you intend to connect to your chimney.

Some units fit completely within the fireplace; others protrude partly from the fireplace and other units sit out on the hearth in front of the fireplace.

If you are considering a fireplace insert, ensure that your fireplace and chimney are well constructed. Adequate clearances to combustibles must be maintained keeping in mind structural combustibles such as metals, paneling and sub flooring. Also keep in mind that chimneys must be cleaned periodically. Will you be able to remove the unit for this purpose?

A proper fitting flue connector is strongly recommended in order to vent flue gases up the chimney.

In order to determine if a chimney or fireplace is safe hold your hand against the bricks after the unit has been in operation for several hours. If it is too hot to comfortably hold your hand, the installation may be unsafe.

As always go to a knowledgeable dealer. He is in a position to recommend the correct size of insert and look after your installation.

Avoid creosote problems with a hot fire

Creosote is the ill smelling brown liquid caused by incomplete combustion of wood. When wood is burned slowly it produces acetic and pyroigneous acids, which combine with moisture to form creosote. Although it is unpleasant and can be dangerous, it is not a necessary evil associated with the use of wood for fuel.

The home owner should have few problems with creosote if he follows a few simple steps:

- Make adequate provision for complete wood-gas burning inside the heating unit;
- Use seasoned wood; (seasoned wood still contains approximately 20 percent humidity.)
- Connect the unit to the chimney with the shortest length of pipe, keeping minimum clearances in mind;

- Make sure a masonry chimney is lined with tile.
- Outside unlined chimneys and long connecting pipes through a cool cellar generally give trouble since stack temperatures may drop below 250 degrees F;

If creosote is still a problem, here are some suggestions:

- Invert the pipes so that the upper pipe fits inside the lower pipe. This is the proper installation;
- If the connecting pipe path is long, use a double-walled pipe;
- Reduce pipe path, if possible, by moving heating unit closer to the chimney;

• Use a chimney cap to provide better draft and to keep chimney temperature higher;

- In mild weather, instead of a long low fire, use a short hot one, or several short hot ones each day.

For safety purposes inspect your chimney on a regular basis. If cleaning is required, use a snug-fitting chimney brush. Creosote may be difficult to remove, so be careful of mortar on a masonry chimney or the stainless steel liner of a prefabricated class "A" metal chimney.

If during the operation of a wood unit, accumulated creosote starts to burn call the Fire Department immediately. While waiting for the arrival of the fire fighters the fire can be controlled by closing all air access to the unit and by dumping a large quantity of coarse salt on the fire. If possible avoid using water in the chimney which could crack the brittle heated flue liner.

Choosing wood

What kind of wood will you heat with? Different species of wood vary in fragrance, ease of starting, coaling qualities and the sparks that are emitted. However, if you own a woodlot or have a few trees to clear up around the lot, your choice might be restricted to the species you own.

- 6 When the doors are closed you have an efficient air-tight wood stove.
- 7 Doors seal air tight using ceramic fibre rope (no asbestos used).
- 8 Right hand door handle is used as a locking mechanism.
- 9 Left door handle is fixed at the same angle as the right door handle when it is in the locked position
- 10 Doors are removable to facilitate shipping and moving
- 11 The open door area is 370 mm (14") in height and 711 mm (28") in width.
- 12 When operated as a fireplace, the unit will radiate more heat through the opening because of its tapered sides compared to other units of rectangular shape
- 13 The stove has 150 mm (6") legs along with a convenient front apron.
- 14 The extra large capacity fire chamber allows the use of logs to 600 mm (24") in length.
- 15 Rotating draft control knobs let you adjust the burning rate.

16 The combination of refractory lining on five sides and the introduction of pre-heated secondary air maintains combustion at high temperature to ensure efficient combustion. This means you generate more heat from the fuel used and require less frequent chimney cleaning.

17 Connects to the Selkirk Metalbestos 178 mm (7") chimney and smoke pipe.

18 6 mm (1/4") steel plate construction gives excellent heat retention and radiation. All seams are continuously welded for an air tight seal.

Norland Natter

By KELLY GRAHAM

To start off on a happy note: congratulations to Wendy Greer and Peter Bailey who were joined in wedlock on Saturday, October 1. The wedding took place at the United Church in Norland and the reception was held at the Coboconk Legion. The happy couple is presently residing in Oshawa.

Marge Fountain recently returned from a visit with her daughter in Toronto.

Welcome home to Phil Hartwick, formerly of Norland. He has been working up in Baffin Island (burr, burr). The Hartwicks moved away from Norland some time ago but have recently bought a house in Fenelon Falls and are once again residents of Victoria County. Welcome back!

Congratulations to Ken and Joan Bowins, of Coboconk, on their first grandchild, Christine Diane Bowins. Little Christine was born on October 1 weighing in at 8 pounds 9 1/2 ounces. Proud first-time uncle is Peter Bowins and last but not least the parents are Bill and Cathy Bowins of Pickering.

The Norland Horticultural Society held a meeting on October 5. Slides were shown. Unfortunately I just recently found out about it and was not able to announce it ahead of time.

Here's the latest from Norland Public School: the grade 4's have begun their swimming program at the Lindsay aquatorium each Tuesday morning. This is a free program that is open to all grade 4 students each year.

A system of school bus patrols has begun. Jim Rioridon, Lisa Kay, Scott Spencer, Colleen Janke, Tracy Davis, Paula Janke, and Brian Morton are presently being employed.

Grades 3 to 8 have begun an intramural (lunch hour) soccer league. Tammy Bryant, Lisa Kay, Tracy Davis, and Jeff Davis are team captains.

The grade 3 and 4 portable is in full operation now. Miss Janes now has her own French room and Mrs. Chambers has her own Resource room.

And finally, there will be a Home and School meeting on October 19 at 7:00 p.m. at the school.

Wait, it looks as if I have two more items concerning our local school.

First of all, the walk-a-thon Saturday, October 1 was a great success. Although the money pledged is as yet unknown, it is estimated that well over half the school participated.

And secondly, all parents of public school students are cordially invited to attend a Meet-the-Teacher night on Thursday, October 13, 1983 at 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. You are welcome to come to the classrooms to look at your child's work and have a brief chat with his/her teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brown of Shadow Lake Road recently celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary. May they enjoy many more happy years together.

Congratulations also to Mr. Brad Bradamore on his new job with the Town of Lindsay. Mr. Bradamore will be joining the staff as a building inspector.

I would now like to print a letter sent to Mrs. Charlene Cross, chairman of The New Kawartha Water Safety Program.

Dear Charlene:

I would like to express my appreciation to the members of the committee which approves and supports The New Kawartha Water Safety Program. It is a considerable undertaking and you are to be commended for the quality of the program is offered in Coboconk. All three of my children thoroughly enjoyed their classes and were thrilled by their progress reports and awards.

The low participation fee is also appreciated and is probably attributable to the amount of work done by volunteers on the committee! Thank you for caring enough to keep the program active.

Sincerely,
Laura Saunders.

The committee would like to thank her for her kind words. They were much appreciated.

Mrs. Mary Pyke was the lucky winner of Shirley Harrison's free Wintario ticket last week.

Congratulations to Thane Yeo who shot a moose on a recent hunting trip. If any of you moose hunters have similar success please let me know.

Here are the euchre scores for Thursday, October 6: ladies' high, Alison Dunbar; men's high, Ziggy, lone hands, Mike Puterbaugh, Barb Kenneth.

And preschoolers, between 18 and 23 kg. (40 to 50 lbs.) must be secured by a lap belt. If they prefer to be raised so they can see out the window, preschoolers have the option of using a properly buckled up booster seat.

Drivers are responsible for ensuring children up to 16 years of age are either in an appropriate child seat or properly buckled up in lap belts or full seat belts. Older teenagers and adults are responsible for buckling themselves in.

Now everyone from newborns to senior citizens is covered by Ontario's child restraint and seat belt laws.

These youngsters acted out a story as part of Bicentennial activities at Victoria Street School in Haliburton last week. They also visited the pioneer museum, baked, and tried their hands at crafts.

Dorset News

By PHYLLIS BRISCOE

"There was an old man just outside of town and a stranger approached and asked, 'What are the people like in this town?' The old man said, 'What were they like where you last lived?'"

The stranger said, "Delightful, generous, kind and helpful." He was answered "You will find them the same in this town." A second stranger approached and asked the same question and on being asked what they were like where he had last lived he answered "It was awful, they were mean and unkind and none would ever give you a helping hand."

The old man replied, "I am afraid you will find it much the same here." A fable, but how true it is. You usually find what you look for.

The fall colours were slow in getting started but are coming along beautifully now and should be at their peak around Thanksgiving time. Why they are late we don't know, maybe lack of moisture. However, we are happy with the lateness, as a number of years they been pretty well gone by Harvest Festival and it is difficult to get enough to decorate the churches.

We send get well wishes to Ivan Bessey who has been some medical problems recently.

We haven't heard any reports on the film shown in the Community Hall last Thursday, "If You Love This Planet." I was unable to attend myself but hope they had a good turn out.

A very happy seventh birthday to Nicole McDonald who celebrates on the 7th. The entertainment committee of the Dorset Senior Club keeps busy. Last week there was a film shown, "An Officer and a Gentleman" and was enjoyed by an audience of 18.

We think that the wild Canada geese are being a bit precipitous, as the weather has been so warm and I am told that they have been seen going north for several weeks now. Maybe they know something that we don't but we hope that it doesn't portend an early winter.

I am always happy to receive correspondence from readers who live in other areas but subscribe to one of the local papers. I had a letter from a lady in Toronto recently who wanted to locate someone she had known a good many years ago when she came here as a camper. I was able to make the necessary contact which made me happy.

The wild ducks are still congregating and looking for hand outs in a couple of areas. Andy MacKay has had a flock that she feeds each day up in the bay and the Weatherells on Paint Lake have also had great numbers that practically come to the door and beg. They are very selective this year and haven't been in our bay at all, although my neighbour Leonard and myself were very generous last year with the food, which they gobbled up. How short memory and appreciation is, even in ducks.

Please call in your news to 766-2237.

H.H. To make sure that clothes receive a thorough rinsing, add a cup of vinegar (white) to rinse cycle. It will help dissolve alkalines in soap and detergent and give soft, sweet smelling clothes. Can also be used when hand washing.

Wilberforce News

By WINNIE SCHOFIELD

The long warm summer days seemed to go on forever and then suddenly their was frost in the air, the leaves were glowing with colour and the geese could be seen flying South. We felt sure that our scenery was second to none. Savouring this season of magic we were not pleased to see a car of men arriving for duck hunting. Fully equipped with expensive camouflaged clothing and plenty of guns and ammunition they were well primed to outwit their feathered victims.

Should we be thankful that they will do a bit of shopping in the area and spend a few dollars at our social functions? Why be pleased that they are here to destroy our wildlife. Of course the government needs their license fees. While we listen with delight to the honking of the geese and marvel at their flying formation others are planning and anticipating their destruction.

The October Fest that took place over the weekend was the Recreation Committee's last big annual event of the year. A few showers did not keep visitors away and many of them came to see what was happening at the Wilberforce arena. The flea market offered a variety of merchandise. Paper back books, cheaply priced, were popular items at the library table. Other articles, many of them donated by local people and cottagers, kept the library workers busy and were soon bought up. The UCW ladies had an enticing display of goodies that vanished in no time. Members of the Slim and Trim Club in Harcourt offered some colourful Christmas ornaments, the Red Cross had a table filled with knitted garments to fit all members of the family. These were sold by Martha Deterling and Sylvia Cameron. There were many other interesting tables; one containing honey products and others with fine china, jewelry and Christmas ornaments and household linens.

Our famous chef, Jim Deterling, with his helpers produced some fine food suitable for the occasion.

The dance at night in the arena was well attended. One family group observed was that of the Scotts. If the spirit of Archie Scott was present he must have been delighted to see his sons and daughters and his grandchildren gathered together for an evening of reunion and dancing.

A last big weekend sale of furniture in the curling rink completed a successful venture by the Wilberforce Veneer Co. Many visiting tourists were seen going in the direction of the curling rink. It can be assumed that the sales were satisfactory.

The Thursday night Bingo games held in the Memorial

Centre Hall came to an end on Thursday. Joyce Barras, who has never missed a game and has been such a big help with the card selling, won the $200 jackpot. Our caller for the past three years has been Eric Saunders who won the hearts of all with his cheerful good nature. Eric is retiring from the job and we will miss him. Other Bingo games in the area include one at the Legion Hall on Monday nights, Highland Grove at their library building on Tuesdays and a Bingo at Harcourt Hall on Wednesdays.

We are all sending good wishes for a quick recovery for our Post Master, Murray Agnew. Murray is at the Haliburton Red Cross Hospital.

On Saturday, October 1 a lovely wedding took place at the Tory Hill United Church. The bride was Barbara Ann Dunford and the lucky groom was Bruce Edgar of Toronto. A friend of the couple's, the Rev. Kim Wright, took the service. Barbara's maid of honour was her twin sister Bonnie O'Brien and her bridesmaid was Brenda Simmons of Ironton. Two junior bridesmaids were Jill and Sherry, friends of the family and Jennifer Dunford was the flower girl. After the wedding a reception was held at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre with a dinner and dance. Some 92 guests were present.

HUDAC NEW HOME WARRANTY PROGRAM

Hobson, will have a heavy schedule of parades. Mel Robertson reports that a service will be held at the Minden Cairn on November 13 at 2:00 p.m.

Other activities include liaison work with Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts to co-ordinate an exhibition of Military works, in early November, at Ralls' End and Agnes Jamieson Galleries. If you have framed photos, newspaper clippings, medals or other memorabilia to display, please contact Phil Graham at 286-2024, or Mabel Brannigan at 489-3238.

Fun night seems to be every night at the Legion, and Jack MacDonald and Reg Crockett always have a bag of tricks up their sleeves. For instance, Jack has ordered new tables and chairs to facilitate the Friday and Saturday night crowds in the clubroom. Also, with the installation recently of three new "smokeeaters", everyone is much more comfortable. Reg has rented a wide screen television so that we can all watch the Grey Cup game -- it's better than being there. In addition, anyone now achieving the perfect score on Wednesday night team darts, will receive and award. If darts isn't your game, 56 numbers will be called at Bingo this week. The raffles are popular, and Holly needs volunteer help with these.

Earl Shipley is getting plans underway for a new building for cadets. Sylvia Sisson reports over 70 cadet applications. A piper is needed for the band, and Don Johnston seems happy to have found a very capable band instructor, Mr. Thompson.

Branch officers have attended several recent educational functions, and one of the most successful was a seminar for Membership, Poppy, Sports and Public Relations chairpeople. Every branch in the zone was represented. Another important service the branch provides is an opportunity to have direct consultation with a DVA representative. For an appointment, or for more information, contact Lloyd Whittaker.

Among Branch 129 donations this month was a colour television for the Haliburton Association for the Mentally Retarded, and also $100 to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Plan to attend the general meeting on November 3, and take part in the important decisions that are made.

Williams back from a month's holiday, also Jack Shaw is back. They keep coming and going all the time, we just can't keep track. We also have Mrs. Shuyler back from hospital, what is the trouble still remains a riddle. We are sorry to lose Mrs. Deumo; she has returned to her home in West Guilford. Life at the Crest was too slow.

Thursday afternoon the ladies of Minden Friendship group brought in a tasty lunch and said enjoy this and relax, one of the ladies was from Halifax. The Bingo numbers were called Thursday night by Kinsmen members Steve Crowe and Murray King.

Friday afternoon Doris wanted to take a bus load of residents to see the colours, but couldn't get help to keep us in place. To drive the bus, look after us she wouldn't face. So in the auditorium they had a quiz instead, we were not there so do not know which side is ahead. We had Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers from Vernon, B.C. call and have lunch with us on Saturday. This has been a busy weekend here at Hyland Crest, some went to have Thanksgiving with relatives, which was just fine, others came to visit relatives here and stayed with us to dine. Millie Wood went to her home in Haliburton which was a nice break. Della Curry went with her son to Haliburton Lake. I think Ruby Lewis went with her daughter, I expect some one came and got her.

The following letter was taken from the Lindsay Post, written by a grade four student.

Dear Editor: Harry was a smoking man, he smokes six packs a day, his lungs were filled with tar and smoke, he didn't know what to say, but he soon found out without a doubt, that smoking doesn't pay, so Harry quit, and now he's fit. Harry knows the way. (Jane Austen)

Board of Education asked to adopt non sexist policies

The regular meeting of the Haliburton County Board of Education was held in the Board Office on Tuesday, September 27, 1983.

The meeting began with a presentation by John Mosey of Mosey and Mosey Insurance Brokers concerning the Board's benefit package. It was decided that because it is necessary to review this matter as soon as possible there will be a meeting of the Chairman of the Board's Negotiation Committees and the Chairman of the Federation's and CUPE's Negotiating committees on Friday, September 30, 1983 commencing at 3 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Board Office.

Betty Campbell was introduced to the Board. She stated she is now a member of the Ontario Women's Directorate. She has worked for the Women's Bureau, under the Ministry of Labour, and the Directorate has been formed to take its place. The Directorate will be under a new Ministry headed by Robert Welch. Ms. Glenna Carr will be its director.

The responsibility of the Bureau has been to serve women in the labour force. It has always had a research component and provided information for employed women. It has also played an advocacy role in women's rights.

Campbell pointed out her organization is interested in boards of education, among others, having a policy that clearly sets out non-sexist practices. She distributed a policy formulated by the Nipissing Board and said she hoped Haliburton will consider establishing a policy. It was noted that one half of the principals in the County are women and some of the Board's caretakers are women.

Blair Pierce raised the matter of reading materials that reveal a sexist bias and almost verge on racism. These are largely older books, found in libraries, and he felt there should be a check made to ensure material is in line with present day thoughts on non-sexism in professionalism. In addition,

Grade 8 students should be counselled so that they know both boys and girls have a free range of subject they can study. It was noted by Mrs. Campbell that in Canada some girls do not choose Mathematics and this would deny them an opportunity to get into the field of electronics.

Mrs. Bert Main was present to explain why she had sent her son, Jason, to Cardiff school without Board approval. Her older son, Troy, had been allowed to go to Cardiff and Jason wished to go also. After a good deal of discussion it was decided that the Special Projects Committee would review the different areas of the county and draw up a policy regarding transfers from one school to another so that in the future there will be some consistency to these cases.

The board gave permission for Jason Main to remain in Cardiff School for the school year 1983-84. This decision is to be reviewed before May, 1984.

Expenditures for the month of August, 1983 in the amount of $241,506.79 were approved.

The board will follow the recommendations in regard to changes in the board's "Group Benefit Programme" as outlined in the report prepared by Mosey and Mosey Insurance Agency Limited, received September 8, 1983, provided that each of the employee negotiating committees concur with said changes.

The board accepted the request for $500 to the Boys' Physical and Health Education Department with the following conditions:

- 1) an itemized statement of expenses be obtained from Mr. Brohman,
- 2) there be more board control of expenditures next year re: this department.

Subsequent to the meeting it was explained to director of education Douglas Hodgson that there are more students playing football this year than expected and the money was spent on equipment, thus overrunning the approved budget. Brohman withdrew his request for funds and suggested he and the students involved would attempt to raise the necessary funds.

It was felt that because Haliburton had changed from a Provisional County to full County status the 15 percent weighting factor for transportation might be lost. Stan Baker reported that the regulations have now been released and carry the following notation: "former provisional boards." This fact will result in transportation costs remaining within the ceilings and fully grantable.

Baker was given permission to hire Whitfield Plumbing to hook up the sewer line to the caretaker's house on the secondary school property - at a cost of $2,800.

Baker reported that the Gooderham School obtains its water supply from a well owned by a Mr. Peacock. This well has been dry for the past week. It has been possible to operate the school because the caretaker's husband, Mr. MacDuff, has been drawing water and leaving sufficient supply in the school to flush toilets and look after any other needs of the staff and students. It was decided to continue having the water drawn and wait for some rain to see whether or not other arrangements need to be made.

Ross Anderson reported on the CEDSS Programme. He said things are going well and that Doug Mitchell has received good cooperation from everyone. There was some concern expressed that the sub-committees for this programme are meeting during school hours. The board members stated that they did not want too much school time used for this purpose.

The board ratified the hiring of Mrs. Betty Smith as temporary secretary for the secondary school, to replace Miss Lynn Graham, duties to commence on October 1, 1983, salary $7.64 per hour, with no fringe benefits.

The board ratified the hiring of Mrs. Georgina Boyle as Special Education teacher at the Senior Elementary School, commencing September, 1983. Mrs. Boyle will be given a probationary teaching contract for the 1983-84 school year.

The board ratified the hiring of Ms. Brenda Brown on a probationary contract. Ms. Brown will teach French on a half-time basis, commencing September, 1983 at the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School.

The board ratified the hiring of Miss Nancy Anderson as Principal's Relief teacher at the Gooderham Elementary School, commencing September, 1983. Ross Anderson declared a conflict of interest.

The board considered correspondence from Barbara Bolin of Sir Sandford Fleming College, regarding the fee structure for the use of computers in the secondary school. Stan Baker will work with Bolin to arrive at a reasonable solution.

Bolin also requested that the board reconsider its decision regarding Blanche Turner being a member of the Hospitality Training Committee. The board decided to inform Bolin that if they are to have a representative it will be Nancy Stinson. If the committee wishes to appoint Turner to attend meetings in non-working hours, no opinion from the board would be warranted.

Bonnie Lee Berry reported to the board on the meeting of the Children's Services Advisory Committee.

Blair Pierce reported on the operation of the secondary school cafeteria. It seems to be operating in a satisfactory manner and approximately 175 students are using this service. The following equipment has been purchased for the cafeteria: rebuilt gas stove, including installation, $2,645; automatic fire system covering appliances, $1,030; cash register, replacement, $814. Total $4,489.

The following equipment has been rented for use in the cafeteria: two deep fryers on a one year lease at $150 per month for both fryers.

The following equipment has been sold to Bill Vanderhorst for the sum of $2,200: electric stove, dishwasher, potato peeler, surplus cooking pots.

A letter was read requesting permission for the Cardiff Nursery School students to ride on buses in the Cardiff area, and the board approved the request.

A proposed programme for Grade 6 students was outlined to the board members. This deals with Values, Influences and Peers and would be offered by a teacher and an O.P.P. officer. It consists of 32 sessions, covering 12 topics. Permission was requested to offer a pilot project at the Archie Stouffer Elementary which would be taught by Glen Carter and Constable Gary Chapman. The board approved the request.

A report will be made to the board concerning this project at the end of the school year.

The board appointed members to the Identification, Placement and Review Committee for each school in the county.

The board increased Stan Baker's salary by 5 percent commencing August 1, 1983, until July 31, 1984.

The board accepted the resignation of Lucinda St. Pierre, effective September 6, 1983.

The board moved into a committee-of-the-whole for the purpose of discussing personnel matters.

BARNUM - In loving memory of a dear husband, Clayton, who died October 4, 1982. Gone is the face we love so dear, Silent is the voice we loved to hear. Too far away for sight or speech, But not too far for thought to reach. Sweet to remember him who once was here, Who, though absent, is just as dear. Lovingly remembered by wife Winnifred. 32-P-12

BARNUM - In loving memory of a dear father, grandfather and father-in-law, Clayton, who died October 4, 1982. What we would give if we could say Hello, Dad, in the same old way. To hear your voice, see your smile, To sit with you and chat awhile. So you who have a father, Cherish him with care, For you'll never know the heartache Till you see his vacant chair. Lovingly remembered by son Terry and family Norma, Kevin and Ricky Barnum. 32-P-12

MCKNIGHT, Jean - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, who passed away October 12, 1982. God saw you getting tired When a cure was not to be, So he closed his arms around you And whispered "Come to me." You didn't deserve to suffer So he gave you rest, God's garden must be beautiful For he only takes the best. Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by Lynn, Mike and Chris. 32-P-12

MCNEIL - In loving memory of my husband who passed away October 18, 1971. In a quiet country grave yard, Where the gentle breezes blow, Lies one I loved so dearly Lost twelve years ago. I do not need a special day To bring him to my mind, For the days I do not think of him Are very hard to find. Lovingly remembered by his wife Relta. 32-P-12

Presbyterial, who brought greetings with an inspirational message. The ladies chatted over lunch prepared by the hostess.

Glamorgan Senior Citizens met in the Community Centre last Wednesday evening. A special treat was the presence of 24 pupils from the Gooderham accompanied by their teachers, Chris Bailey, Jane Miller, and Nancy Anderson. The children were served hot dogs, pop and cake. Jane Miller and her class were responsible for making delicious cookies decorated with a happy face for each of the 32 seniors present.

"Grace" was said by Erin Pettit. Following the meal, the children entertained with a Thanksgiving programme of readings, skits, dances and a play which proved humorous and enjoyable. Dorothy Robertson thanked the children and their teachers for this friendly and generous gesture. As they departed each child was given a "yo-yo."

Good-byes and best wishes for a happy and healthful winter in the south were conveyed to Ina and Len Smith and Helen and Vic Black.

The rest of the evening was spent in games.

We are glad to hear that Margaret Hopkinson, who summers on Pine Lake, is recovering nicely after surgery in Toronto.

Our municipal council can be congratulated on their efforts and perseverance in obtaining government funding to carry on several projects this summer. These were of benefit to our community while at the same time they provided needed employment. Dallyn Pickens capably supervised the three programmes. "Experience 83" covered roads study, research, recreation and assistance with the swim programme. The other two were "Needs" and "Summer Canada", which emphasized historical research.

As a token of thanks at the completion of their work, those employed used some of their earnings to provide for a dinner in the Community Centre last Saturday evening, to which they invited council members and municipal employees, as well as all who worked on the programmes. Each one invited was also allowed one friend.

many lakes are already near their winter levels, it is expected that little lake trout spawn will be lost.

This summer has also been a busy one on the canal system. Because of the wet weather in May, 5,000 fewer vessels moved through the locks and bridges. The rest of the summer was very busy, however, with 231,700 vessels being locked through, and increase of 10,000 over 1982. The busiest locks were at Fenelon Falls and Rosedale which moved approximately 12,000 boats each this season.

Navigation through the locks will end on Wednesday, October 12, then a busy season of maintenance and reconstruction will begin. This is our last newsletter of 1983, but the Trent-Severn Waterway wishes everyone a safe and happy fall and winter.

Introduce your oil furnace to add-on electric heat and introduce yourself to substantial oil savings.

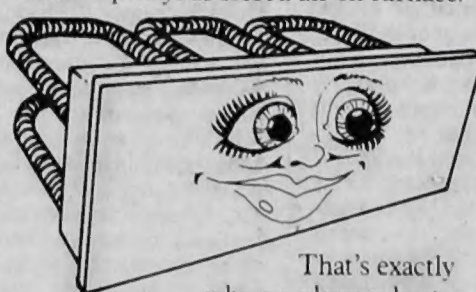

Kissing that old flame goodbye isn't the only way to reduce your oil consumption. If that oil furnace is still in good shape, you can take advantage of converting to a dual energy heating system.

Instead of replacing your furnace, introduce it to an electric plenum heater, heat pump, electric boiler or baseboard heaters. These dual energy systems let oil and electricity work in harmony to heat your home more efficiently and more economically. Operation is simple. The electric system works until the coldest winter days, then your oil furnace automatically takes over.

In most cases, add-on electric heat will reduce oil consumption by up to 75%. Even more in some cases. And a reduction of that magnitude can make a dramatic difference to the total cost of heating your home.

The Plenum Heater

The "plenum" is the warm air chamber at the top of your forced air oil furnace.

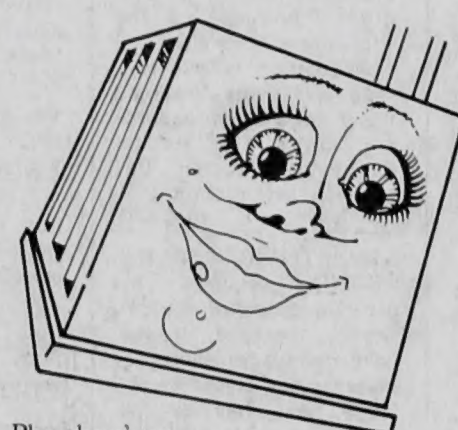

That's exactly where a plenum heater is installed. So that on most days, the fan circulates more economical, electrically generated heat.

The Heat Pump

Even on cold winter nights, there is still warmth in the outside air. Just like a refrigerator, the heat pump extracts that warmth and pumps it into your home.

Plus there's an added bonus. In the summer, your heat pump works in reverse and becomes a central air conditioner.

The Electric Boiler

If you have an oil fueled hot water heating system, there's another alternative. You simply add an electric boiler.

It's no bigger than a small suitcase and can be easily installed.

Baseboard Heaters

Electric baseboards can also be used as a dual energy system. They're installed in individual rooms to quietly handle most of the heating load.

The Time is Right

Today is definitely the time to investigate the savings of introducing your oil furnace to an add-on electric system. The COSP (Canada Oil Substitution Program) grant will pay for half of the installed cost or $800, whichever is less, on all systems where oil consumption is reduced by 50% or more.

To find out more about the benefits of a dual energy system, contact your local Hydro or electric heating contractor today and ask them about special assistance that could lead to even greater savings. And tell your furnace to get ready for a warm and meaningful relationship this winter.
